New York Police Speed Search For Sculptor Suspected In Easter Crimes

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 8—Another link in the police chain of evidence against erotic Robert Irwin, missing suspect in the Easter Sunday triple murder, was forced today when witnesses placed the 29-year old sculptor within a few blocks of the "murder flat" two hours before the tragedy was discovered.

The startling evidence that the ex-divinity student munched at sandwiches in a drugstore at the very time the bodies of beautiful "Ronnie" Gedeon, her mother and their luckless lodger were lying cold in death, was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Kaye, owners of the drugstore.

In No Hurry

They said Irwin seemed to be morbid and in no hurry to leave the store, located at 125 East 51st street. And they added that he made no attempt at that time, to hide his identity, for he was comparatively well-known in the shop.

The Kayes explained that Irwin, a former lodger at the Gedeons, had patronized the place regularly once or twice a week when in New York.

Mrs. Kaye said:

"He was here Easter afternoon at about 1 o'clock. I didn't notice him myself, but one of my customers saw him in the place at that time.

"I saw his picture in the papers and it was a shock. Sure enough, it was the same man who used to come here quite steadily. I'd know that face anywhere.

"Ronnie Gedeon used to come in here, too. She'd come in every morning about 10 o'clock for breakfast. Usually she had another girl with her. I don't know who the other girl was.

"I never saw Ronnie and Irwin together."

Mrs. Kaye's husband was equally

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Spring cleanup work is well under way on the farms and in the suburban areas around New Castle. Large bonfires were to be seen on many of the hills around the city last night.

North Jefferson street lights, recently erected as a part of the new lighting system on that thoroughfare, were burning last night, Pa Newc observed. They are quite an improvement on the street.

One of the oldest buildings in the city, what was once a residence at 27-29 South Jefferson street, is being razed. It had been occupied for business purposes of late years. It is a building typical of the style of construction in the early 19th century, and is made of old handmade brick. It is said that the ground will be used as a parking lot by an automobile agency.

Cascade Park is getting to be the favorite spot for quite a few persons, despite the fact that summer is still weeks away. Daily, New Castle's recreation center attracts many strollers and fishermen.

City-Wide Fire Alarm Signal Is Needed Here

In a loose boarded leanto back of the Central fire station on South Jefferson street there is a relic of other days in New Castle that has been retired from active duty for years. A relic that many people think should be cleaned up and put back into service, the old fire bell that for nearly half a century tolled out its messages from the tower of the central station when it was in East street.

There isn't anything the matter with the bell, nor with the equipment that goes with it except that it is dirty from disuse. When the central station was removed to South Jefferson street it was decided that there was no need of ringing it when a fire broke out. At about the same time or perhaps earlier, the fire siren which was blown for all fires was discontinued due to the steel mill's going down.

A Town Crier

There was a time when the old fire bell was a bronze throated town crier in New Castle. It was rung for all fires, it was rung when an

To Press For Action On Governor Earle's State Relief Program

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 8.—Administration leaders today formulated their strategy to jam through a none-too-sympathetic legislature Gov. George H. Earle's revolutionary relief and public assistance program.

Brewing for weeks, wide schisms within the Democratic ranks were expected to break out over the program, testing the majority's fealty to the chief executive, obscuring temporarily the controversial labor legislation.

Measures Introduced

Seven measures to carry out Governor Earle's proposal to consolidate and make permanent the commonwealth's relief and public assistance administration were dropped into the senate hopper yesterday. Sen. Edward J. Thompson, D., Centre, was their sponsor.

"The measures, providing for state financing of all outdoor assistance in the counties, beginning January 1, 1938", said a statement from the governor's office, "and designed to simplify the present public assistance structure so as to promote efficient administration and more nearly adequate and uniform standards of relief, call for elimination of more than 480 bureaus and boards, many overlapping and responsible for duplication of effort and waste.

"These include the state's archaic poor board system, made up of a total of 374 township, borough or county units with more than 700

Sit-Down Strike Issue In House

Senate Vote Of 75-3 Condemns Sit-Down Strike Along With Other Action

HOUSE CONSIDERS PROBE OF SITUATION

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8.—With congress whipped to a fever heat and the senate already on record, debate on the red hot issue of the sit-down strike moved into the house today.

The senate voted 75 to 3 to condemn the sit-down, along with unfair employers' tactics and company unions, but the house approached the problem from another angle. There, this afternoon, bitter wrangling will decide whether the house shall conduct a sweeping investigation of the whole sit-down strike situation, from the viewpoint of employer as well as worker.

Rep. Dies (D) of Texas proposed the investigation, and under present plans of leaders, the house will dispose of this proposal, probably by adopting it, before any house action will come on the senate's concurrent resolution condemning the sit-down, labor's newest weapon. Apparently, the senate's concurrent resolution is already shelved, so far as the house is concerned.

New Legislation Likely.

However, house inactivity on the senate resolution comes after members of the other branch have opened up a whole new series of avenues leading to labor legislation of various types. While the sit-down resolution was debated in the senate, its members revealed new policy charts for settling labor disputes, and possibly writing laws designed to pro-

Contractor Begins Task Of Taking Down Walls Of St. Cloud Building

BIG STEAM SHOVEL USED TO SPEED JOB

Work of tearing down the ruined walls of the St. Cloud Building which remained after the disastrous blaze of March 31, was started today by N. P Woodward, who was awarded the contract for this work by the owners of the building yesterday.

A steam shovel was placed in Sycamore Way, in the rear of the building this morning and began leveling the walls which are standing in the back of the building.

It is expected to start the job of taking down the stairway and elevator shaft in the front of the building tomorrow, when traffic will be blocked off in front of the building on Washington street, until the dangerous column is down.

This morning, employes of the Murphy Company removed a satchel which is said to have contained considerable cash, which had been in the basement. It was taken to a local bank where it will be salvaged, the bills being forwarded to the treasury Department for redemption.

Seventeen In Jacksonville Prison Break

(International News Service)

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., April 8.—Sawing the bars from a third floor window in their temporary prison quarters, 17 negro prisoners, including five held for murder, made a break for freedom here early today.

A short time later, however, one of those held on a murder charge and a prisoner facing a minor charge surrendered, and another prisoner held for murder was captured, leaving 14 at large.

One hundred and three prisoners were in the temporary quarters, the sheriff's office said, and although all had an equal opportunity to escape, only 17 attempted it.

The prisoners had been quartered temporarily in a third floor "bull pen" while the regular quarters were undergoing repairs.

The prisoners sawed the bars from a window and then placed a large piece of timber from the window sill to the top of the wall surrounding the prison. Walking along the timber to the top of the wall, the prisoners dropped to the sandy ground outside the wall and fled.

OAKLAND, Cal., April 8.—Edna Sherman, 28, attractive socialite daughter of a pioneer California music publishing family, was found mysteriously dead at the wheel of her automobile in the garage of the family home today.

A preliminary examination indicated she had been asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust. However, there was a bump on her forehead, and authorities were investigating to determine if the bump was suffered when she collapsed against the steering wheel, or previously.

Ford And Frankensteen Exchange Broadsides

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 8—Answering Henry Ford's statement, "we'll never recognize the United Automobile Workers Union or any other Union" Richard T. Frankensteen, chief UAW organizer, today declared "Henry will either recognize the Union or he won't build automobiles."

Ford and Frankensteen exchanged broadsides as peace was returning to the strike-front in motordom. Frankensteen was at Lansing, Ford in his winter home at Ways, Ga.

Frankensteen, who called the now-settled Chrysler strike, would not disclose when the union would serve demands or call a strike among Ford's 87,000 workers here.

"We'll choose our own time" he said, "you can tell Henry that." Union leaders always refer to Ford as "Henry."

Warning Issued

Although Frankensteen refused to disclose when the union would serve demands on Ford, he said it would be correct to interpret John L. Lewis' speech at a mass meeting of auto workers here last night as a

Settlement Of Auto Strikes In Michigan Carries Peace Hopes

(International News Service)

DETROIT, April 8.—Strife-torn Michigan awoke to a dawn filled with new hope for industrial peace today after the settlement of the Chrysler and Reo Automobile company sit-downs paved the way for the termination of other strikes on similar terms.

At the same time CIO Chief John L. Lewis, leaving Michigan after his two company conference with Governor Frank Murphy and Walter P. Chrysler, sent out another ray of hope for peace when he warned 28,000 United Automobile Workers here that spontaneous, unauthorized sit-downs harmed the labor movement.

Must Heed Agreements.

"The UAW must learn that an agreement in the auto industry is just as sacred as those in the mining, printing and railroad industries," he declared, apparently referring to the spontaneous sit-downs which crippled nine General Motors plants last week despite the agreement which settled the 44-day GM sit-down.

Lewis, making his first public appearance in Detroit, seat of CIO automobile industry strength, was cheered for ten minutes by the 28,000 workers who jammed the state fair grounds for a victory celebration.

Obviously tired after his settlement conferences with Chrysler and Murphy, Lewis nevertheless spoke for more than an hour, declaring:

"I ask you all to work in full cooperation with your officers in observing the agreement."

Meanwhile, in Lansing, Governor Murphy worked to end the remaining sit-downs by offering the "master settlement plan" agreed upon by Lewis and Chrysler to employers and union leaders in other strikes.

Expect Hudson Settlement.

Y. M. C. A. Drive Teams Top Goal In First Report

At Dinner Rally At 'Y' They Score 2,325 Points; Goal Was 1,800

CAMPAIGN'S SET-UP WAS FOOTBALL GAME

East Division Winner, With John A. Butler's Team Star Group

Surprising the most confident of the drive leaders who felt the campaign might close early, hard-working teams of the 1937 membership campaign of the Young Men's Christian Association last night turned in subscription figures that sent the first report total sailing far "over the top" and made it necessary to continue the campaigning no longer.

In the novel East-West football game which formed the thrilling basis for this year's campaign, the "Y" set up a goal of 1,800 points—but the two teams reported a grand total of 2,325 for their intensive one-day solicitation.

General Secretary Robert L. Meermans said that within a day or so the 2,325 points will be translated into memberships and cash, but he gave full assurance that "the 2,325 means we triumphed again this year."

East Division Victorious

Coach Daniel H. Treloar, Jr., headed the winning East division which defeated the West division of Coach A. L. Bintz, Jr. The East workers scored 1,232 points, the West workers 1,093.

Cheers rose from the second floor banquet hall the moment the 2,325 points were tabulated, for it was a record-breaking, unprecedented finish for a "Y" campaign. Not often do the annual membership drives end in such a hurry. It had opened Tuesday night.

General Chairman George W. Muse, the football game's "promoter" and "Y" officers quickly ex-

Clyde Beatty Is Facing Charges

Famous Animal Trainer Is Accused By Humane Officer In New York

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 8.—Scene of the legal battle between Clyde Beatty, famous animal trainer, and Jacob Jacobs, humane society agent, was shifted today from the Lions' cage at the Hippodrome to the more prosaic setting of west side court, with the count one and one.

Jacobs, assigned to serve a warrant on Betty yesterday charging him with cruelty to animals, took one look at the 40 snarling lions and tigers in the cage with Beatty, and promptly decided that discretion was the better part of valor. Later, however, he served the warrant and Beatty was taken to a police station. A circus official put up $500 bail.

I've been saving up a chuckle for the goosebone prophet folks, who late last fall predicted things that turned out to be jokes. They promised winter full and free, with zero every night, they warned us to put on some clothes, and board the hen coop tight. They said the winter would be such as we had never seen, and all the time the lawns were bare and also rather green. And now that spring has come along, I rise in place to say, the goosebone prophets are the bunk, its fifty-two today.

BITTER FIGHTING RAGES

Northern Spain Reports Conflict

Both Loyalists And Rebels Claim Success In Bitter Engagements

MANY LOYALISTS REPORTED SLAIN

By THOMAS A. LOAYZA
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MADRID, April 8—Bitter fighting raged on the Basque front in Northern Spain today, with both rebels and loyalists claiming successes and a rebel communique at Salamanca asserting the Urquiola and Ubidea passes had been captured by insurgent troops.

In addition, Salamanca announced, the rebels had seized heights near both passes as well as the village of Ubidea itself. One hundred loyalists were killed and much war material captured, the rebels claimed.

Many other loyalists were slain when they unsuccessfully attacked Baranita on the Madrid front, the Salamanca communique added.

The rebel broadcasting station at Seville stated attempts by government troops to break through rebel lines in the Cordoba sector collapsed when the government forces were faced with determined resistance.

The radio also announced arrest of a woman spy "creeping into the government lines" and attempting to give away the nationalist position at Vallaneuva Del Queque.

In the Cordoba area, Loyalist officials stated their troops still were advancing toward Fuente Ovejuna, capture of which would free the government forces from insurgent attacks from the rear while the Loyalists are engaged in encircling the important railway junction and mining center, Pennarroya.

From Salamanca, however, the rebel radio station broadcast a report that rebel Generalissimo Francisco Franco, and General Emilio Mola, commander of the northern Insurgent army, visited the Biscay front and watched an aerial duel in which a Loyalist plane was forced down in flames.

outstanding citizen died, it was rung when something of unusual importance happened. But that was long ago.

Since the disastrous fire when the St. Cloud building was destroyed and an entire business block in the downtown section was threatened, many citizens have asked why there shouldn't be some warning for fires in New Castle.

The St. Cloud fire was a general alarm fire and had there been a siren in use or perhaps even the big bell of Central, many of the firemen off duty would have been warned that a fire of more than ordinary size was in progress and answered quickly.

The fire siren is on the boiler plant of the steel mill but it has not blown for years When ever a fire broke out its horse voice bellowed out the alarm to everybody in New Castle. Paid firemen off duty, and volunteers heard the alarm. Citizens who knew their own fire alarm were warned that the fire was in their district and in the case of a general alarm down town business men were able to rush to their places of business in time to protect their stock.

The recent experience proves the need of some warning system. The big bell of the Central station should be put back into service and so should the fire siren.

Otherwise the next bad fire will see a repetition of the conditions of a few nights ago.

Even the senate's Democratic leader, Senator Joe T. Robinson of Arkansas, admitted that debate on the senate's sit-down policy resolution provided evidence of possible to come on wages and hours and labor controversies. Demand for such legislation was evinced on both sides of the senate.

But before any of these projected moves reach the senate floor, the house will probably clear the air of tangles involved in the present sit-down situation, through adoption of the Dies resolution.

There was some opposition to the Dies proposal, but it was not considered strong enough to block passage of the resolution providing for the investigation.

pressed genuine delight over the outcome. Mr. Muse said that some informal solicitation of cards in the hands of workers will continue today and tomorrow but that there will be no more report rallies.

Hall Has Gridiron Sound

The report of last night took on a measure of atmosphere one associates with a football clash. The right end player reported against the left end player of the opposing team, there were shouts of "he's offside," there were boos for some and cheers for others and it was in doubt as to which division would come out on top until John A. Butler, a "Y" director playing the center position for the East squad, plunged through with his shattering 600 points. Butler's team reported the largest number of points, too great a number for the fighting West team to overcome. Second high from the standpoint of points was the West team of Wesley Mann with 240, and third high was the West team of George E. Lyon, "Y" board president, with 186½.

The full night's report of the two divisions follows:

East Division
(Coach Treloar—1,232 Points)

Right half, Don Moore—44½ points.

Right guard, John P. Boyles—70 points.

Right end, Russell Lennig—108 points.

West Division
(Coach Bintz—1,093 Points)

Center, George E. Lyon—186½ points.

Quarterback, Herb Kirk—122 points.

Boys Played Stellar Role

Boys' teams worked side by side with the men's teams during the campaign this year, as in other drives. They were headed by able "Y" youths.

The program closed shortly after the team reports were in last night, after General Chairman Muse and General Secretary Meermans expressed their appreciation for the hard work the teams did.

HUMAN INTEREST IN THEIR STORIES

Experiences Of Sick People Grown Well Reveal Real Interest

Experiences of people who have used World's Tonic with remarkable results continue to come into the hands of the distributors of this new remedy, prepared after patient research in various parts of the world. Some of the stories of people who have long been sick and now are well read like miracles, for they tell a human interest story of sickness, hope and recovery that has all the elements of tragedy as well as relief. Take the story told by Mrs. Myrtle Young, as an example. Take her own words:

"For months I was sick with stomach trouble and consipation. I had to take different kinds of medicine in order to get my bowels to move. I had pain in my shoulders and lower part of my back. The main trouble started after I had the flu. I got so weak that I could not do my housework, and I suffered much pain. At times it seemed to me the top of my head would burst and my stomach and bowels were so sore that not a day passed without pain. To add to my distress I got so that I was dizzy a good part of the time, and I had horrible dreams night after night. More than once I would be awakened by them—so frightened I did not dare lift my head.

"When I began taking World's Tonic these troubles left me so quickly that the whole thing seems now like a bad dream. I hadn't taken this wonderful new medicine a week until I began to feel better, and in three weeks I knew I was on the road to recovery. Nothing I ever heard of acted more quickly or more certain than World's Tonic did in my case, for it gave me more strength each day, and with this strength it overcame my sickness so thoroughly that now I have no signs that I ever was so miserable. I have gained in weight and have a good color in my face."

Many other people, right in this neighborhood, tell every day about what this new medicine has done for them. It is creating a real sensation among the people of New Castle because for many it is the first hope they have had in months.

World's Tonic can be obtained of Eckerd's, Paisley's or of any other first class drug store. (A-95)

FORD - FRANKENSTEEN HURL BROADSIDES

warning to Ford workers not to start a strike before international officers were ready for it.

Lewis, the CIO chief, had warned against authorized sit-downs and strikes in his address.

Frankensteen was asked if it would be correct to interpret Lewis' speech as a warning to unionists not to start an "unauthorized" Ford strike.

"Yes, that would be correct," he replied.

Frankensteen claimed the union drive for members among Ford workers was "coming along fine."

Negotiate on Hudson Strike

Frankensteen went to Lansing after the rally in Detroit last night to sit in at negotiations designed to end the Hudson strike. The negotiations were launched by Gov. Frank Murphy after the governor brought about settlement of the costly Chrysler strike Tuesday night and the Reo sit-down Wednesday.

Peace in the Chrysler and Reo strikes was sending nearly 85,000 idle and striking auto workers back to their jobs in the industry, Lewis, the CIO leader, sent out a ray of hope for continued peace at the present time when he warned the 28,000 auto workers rallying here that spontaneous, unauthorized sit-downs harmed the labor movement.

Ford Presents Stand

Ways, Ga., April 8.—Lambasting the technique of the sit-down strike, labor's newest weapon in industrial controversies, Henry Ford today threw down the gauntlet to the United Automobile Workers union which is attempting to organize the workers in the Ford Motor Company.

"We'll never recognize the United Automobile Workers Union or any other unions," the motor magnate declared bluntly at his plantation home near here.

Ford plants already have been the scene of two short-lived sit-down strikes One occurred last week at the Ford plant in Kansas City and the other occurred yesterday at the plant in St. Louis, according to information received at the Ford home here.

Assails Sit-Downers

Although declaring that the Ford Motor Company would never recognize a union among its employes, the automobile manufacturer reiterated his previous policy of paying the highest possible wages to his workers.

Ford accompanied his challenge to the UAW with a bitter indictment of the sit-down strike. He declared:

"People who seize other people's property are in the same class as housebreakers."

The duly constituted law enforcement officers should not permit the continuance of a sit down strike, he declared. Private property should be protected from such seizure, he added.

Asked to comment on the recent strikes in General Motors Corporation and the Chrysler Corporation, the automobile magnate asserted that in all recent strikes the labor forces have been the heavy losers.

company executives. Union chiefs said the 1,200 sit-downers probably would vote on a settlement plan today.

UAW President Homer Martin issued a statement to dispel fears of an immediate strike call to hit the Ford Motor company.

He branded rumors that the strike call was imminent as "products of the imagination."

The campaign to organize Ford workers is being pushed constantly, he said, but no immediate action is contemplated.

"It won't be any secret when we do," he said. "We'll tell Henry (Ford) about it."

Would End Sit-Downs.

Since the beginning of the General Motors strike strikers have made statements and carried placards indicating "Ford is next".

Some union leaders, however, indicated no action would be taken until after it consolidates what they consider gains from General Motors, Chrysler and Reo strikes.

The state senate in Lansing moved to put an end to Michigan sit-downs by passing two bills, one to make sit-downers felons and the other to make employers who negotiate with sit-downers guilty of a felony.

The bills must gain approval of the house of representatives and be signed by the governor before they become law.

TO PRESS FOR ACTION ON GOVERNOR EARLE'S STATE RELIEF PLAN

elected office holders; 67 county mothers' assistance boards and 39 active county and regional emergency relief boards."

Difficulty In House

Relatively easy sailing was expected for the measures in the house, but in the senate, matters are different. Several Democratic senators balked at the program, long before it was introduced.

The cost of the consolidated program for the next biennium was set at $137,150,000—$2,000,000 less than the governor estimated in his budget message. This estimate is contingent upon business conditions and what the federal government will do. Otherwise revisions are expected and many legislative leaders are openly predicting that a special session of the legislature will be necessary because of the many possible unforeseen developments that might take place.

State Relief Director Karl De Schweinitz was virtually assured of the new cabinet post, to be known as the Department of Public Assistance, administering the program.

The governor's program calls for a merit system for employes, another provision expected to strike hard going.

New Department

The new department of public assistance would take over all of the duties of the State Emergency Relief Board, which would be abolished, as well as the assistance functions under the welfare department.

The institutional service such as almhouses, now administered by the poor boards, would be placed in the hands of county commissioners, except in Pittsburgh and Philadelphia where city officials would handle it.

The chief executive, under the proposal, would appoint the local county assistance boards, to serve without pay, consisting of seven members except in Allegheny and Philadelphia counties which would have eleven-member boards. The boards would serve without pay for three years with overlapping terms.

The local boards would "appoint, transfer, layoff, suspend and remove" an executive director and other employes in administering assistance; submit budgets to the Department of Public Assistance; hear and act on appeals from actions of its employes affecting the rights of those applying for or receiving assistance.

A state board of public assistance, made up of nine men and women, "serving without pay, no member of which shall hold office in any political party", is also provided for. This group would be appointed by the governor for six years overlapping terms and would "supervise local boards and allocate to them, on the basis of needs, funds for local assistance; establish rules, regulations and standards as to eligibility for assistance."

An employment director, appointed by the secretary of the public assistance department, would, under the proposal, administer personnel hiring, firing and determing of eligibility through a civil service plan.

APPROVE EXPENSES

When city council met today, council upon motion of Councilman Butler, approved expenses of J. D. Alexander, J. M. Rice and Mayor Charles E. McGrath, who went to Harrisburg recently to try and secure a $2,000,000 state institution for New Castle. The expense for the two days' trip, plus the operation of the mayor's car, was $57.50.

A PROSPECT THAT PLEASES

THIS is the time of year when the ardent gardener will begin to concern himself with the problems that lie in the offing. He will experience, to begin with, an urge to get out in the yard with a rake, but determining in his own mind upon due consideration that it is a little too early for practical operations, he will devote himself to the theory of the business.

In his mind's eye the garden of the spring and summer will assume form. First, of course, there will be the gay army of tulips, a beauteous prelude to a changing and ever-thrilling pageant. Then the annuals and perennials will make their appearance. Running along the back of the bed will be the tall-growing cosmos and room will be found, of course, for the old standbys, zinnias, and for asters and scabiosa, ageratum, calendulas and larkspur, petunias and marigold, snapdragon and countless other flowers, all depending upon the individual fancy of the gardener.

And if this gardener has the proper spirit, if he knows his verbenas, his salpiglossis and his phlox drummondii, he will have each in its place, a spot where the soil is just right and where there is the ideal distribution of sunshine and shade. The whole plan will be put down carefully on paper in anticipation of the day when conditions call for the use of spade and rake and hoe, when the plan will be transferred from paper to the good earth.

Of course, there is no certainty that enthusiasm for the perfect garden will not diminish as the season advances and the scene changes from the realm of the imagination to the realities of the back yard. Nevertheless, it is a pleasant prospect to contemplate.

THAT NEW MEMORY MACHINE

Those Westinghouse scientists who have developed an electric brain which remembers better than an elephant or a disgruntled voter have started something.

It's a memnoscrope, a word which a non-electrified person can easily forget; but if they'll only make one pocket-size to remind tired business men to bring home those lamb chops or telephone Aunt Emma not to come to dinner, it will keep a lot of people from going around all day with strings tied to their fingers wondering what the strings are for.

It might even recall to elected representatives of the people something about upholding the constitution of the United States.

Any gadget which would remember friend wife's birthday and the wedding anniversary would save emotional stress. One hopes to remember to buy one.

FACT NO. 1 FOR BRITISH VISITORS

The informal fact-finding committee of British M. P.'s that has been touring this country has not attracted much publicity—perhaps because it has been chiefly engaged in questioning individuals and filling notebooks.

But three of the members made speeches in St. Louis the other night in which they urged that the United States join with Great Britain, in the event of a threat of any war, in cutting off supplies of raw materials.

This would be an alliance designed to force the United States into the role of policeman for preservation of European peace—about the surest way of dragging us into war.

The visiting M. P.'s can not have heard about our new neutrality legislation. They should put down in their notebooks as Fact No. 1 that the United States will have no alliance with any other nation, is resolved never again to mix in the quarrels of others and is amply preparing to protect her own neutrality.

FUTURE OF THE CCC

Of all the emergency relief agencies none exceeds, in President Roosevelt's interest, the Civilian Conservation Corps. None is so thoroughly his own creation. That he should be eager to protect the organization with a shield for permanency is wholly understandable.

The CCC, with more than 300,000 present enrollees, has made an admirable record for itself. As it begins its fifth year the tally sheet of its emergency service lists 2,000,000 jobs provided and $360,000,000 pay sent to needy homes.

Most important, the CCC has been the means of keeping young men, unable to get jobs in industry, off the streets. It has given them healthful occupation in the open air. It has enabled them to obtain a new perspective on life.

There is no question that so long as the need exists the CCC should be kept in operation as one of the most beneficial of the nation's relief organizations. It is by no means inconceivable, however, that the time is approaching when industry will need all the workers it can get to increase national production.

Rather than make the CCC permanent it might be advisable to continue it on a temporary basis until it is no longer necessary. If the need arose later, it could be re-established, as an essential emergency relief measure.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACHING CHILDREN TO FIGHT

As you who have read this column for several years know, I have maintained that some timid young children need to be taught to fight in self-defense. Also I have recommended boxing lessons for most bullies.

While I would not reverse these items of advice to parents, I think I ought to give them with more caution from now on. As for children under seven or eight who are very timid (and on which account they may be bullies), guidance in techniques at self-defnse may be given safely, if the child does not acquire the habit of being the aggressor, going about hitting others more or less indiscriminately. This matter can and ought to be established clearly in the mind of the child concerned. The older the bully the more difficult, perhaps, to educate him in exercising discretion once he acquires much skill at boxing.

Why have I grown more cautious on this matter? Because of the increased popularity of prize fighting, and because of the slugging epidemic on the screen in consequence of which, perhaps, there is a slugging epidemic among those persons in real life who choose to do violence to other persons. Do you realize that you and your children can scarcely find a motion picture now that does not have one or many slugging scenes and with the slugger virtually always the hero? Perhaps we have reasons for chief concern about the effect of these pictures. Furthermore, according to the police records of a city of less than a million, there are 275 cases a year in which bruised wives drag pugnacious husbands into courts for beating them.

Courage From Skill.

Returning to the timid child, he may be able to cultivate more courage as he acquires more play skills and skills at making and creating things which other children achieve. As they come to admire this skillful youngster they tend to cease annoying him in the more primitive fashion. The more ways in which a child can win achievements that are socially approved among his fellows, the less he feels occasion to fight. We parents hardly can appreciate fully the degree to which the fine activity programs of our schools provide substitutes for fighting.

"It's the boys who don't get along in class and also fail to do well in the various school activities that fight most at our school," observed a lad of 14. "They think they have to fight to win a place. Boys who are successful feel no need to fight."

All Of Us

By MARSHALL MASLIN

HOW OFTEN DO YOU SEE YOUR FRIENDS?

The commonest complaint of the people I know is not about their health or the jobs or anything else but this: They don't see their friends often enough!

A man meets another man and likes him. He says to himself:

"I'm going to follow up this acquaintance. We got along so well in those few minutes that I'm sure we could make a friendship of this."

The other man says the same thing to himself. . . . But do they follow that impulse? They do NOT. Each has his routine, his rut, his circle, and follows it as monotonously as the horses on the merry go round. They have no time for the friends they have or the friends they would wish to have.

A woman says to herself every few weeks:

"I must see Jane Kent. I haven't seen her for more than a year, haven't even talked to her on the phone, haven't written to her. It's a pity for us to allow our friendship to pass out of our lives. It was a precious thing."

At last she writes a self-accusing letter, studded with apologies, to her neglected friend, and that very letter may cross in the mails a letter from Jane Kent accusing HERSELF of negligence and wondering why they don't see each other more often.

This is true of me, and it's true of nearly everybody I know. . . . We all fret because we have allowed friends to slip out of our lives, all fret because we have let a warmly human gift fall from our hands. . . . We fret but we do nothing.

We are so busy. We have so many obligations. We aren't well. We have so many other things to do. A woman has her family. A man has his job. There are only 24 hours in the day and a man can't do EVERYTHING that he wants to do. . . . That's how we argue, and that's how we push our regrets aside and go back to our narrowed routine. . . . And we ought to be ashamed of ourselves, for old friendship maintained steadily through the years is one of the greatest enrichments that life can bring us.

A Chinese Girl's Marriage Day is about the most miserable day in her whole life. For days beforehand she has been in the hands of "dressers," who soaked her face in hot water, applied powder and rouge, dressed her hair elaborately, and early on the wedding morning arrayed her in heavy satin robes, richly embroidered, placing a heavy crown and tinsel veil upon her head. She cannot partake of any food, she must fast all day long; everyone is at liberty to tease her, examine her clothes and generally test her temper. There are clashing of cymbals, playing, singing and much talking. The poor child is quite worn out by the end of the day.

To all this tiresome clamor is added the fact that the bride has never seen her husband.

NEIGHBORHOOD ITEMS

Bridgeville Spectator—The engagement which existed between Miss Sallie Binks and Conrad Cusack has been mutually dissolved, it being the aim of the parties to disappoint those who reported the news of their alleged marriage. By FRANCINE MARKEL

Dear Miss Markel—I am transforming one of my rooms into a library. Could you give me any hints about papering the walls, choosing furniture, etc.?—A Bride.

Answer—The color scheme should not be as dominating in the library as in the other rooms of the house. Bright colors should be avoided on the walls, in draperies and in floor covering. Furnishings should be chosen with the idea of establishing mental peace and repose for the occupants of this room who will, undoubtedly go there for mental concentration.

Your walls may be set from top to bottom with book shelves, as are the libraries of most literary personages; or if you prefer, you may have fewer shelves occupying only one or two walls, and cover the remaining bare walls with pictures. Landscapes and marine paintings and portraits of famous writers are appropriate for a library.

Among the essentials for the home library are a desk with a chair of proper height for writing, several lounging chairs and several lamps situated for comfort while reading or studying.

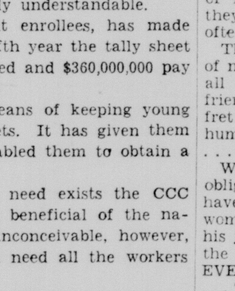

A thick carpet or rug will prevent noise and give a feeling of peace.

When hanging your curtains in this room, adjust them so that they may be drawn entirely away from the window to give a maximum of light. Thick draperies, to draw over the windows on Winter nights, will give an aspect of coziness and comfort to this room.

The World At A Glance

British Moves Important.
Baldwin And MacDonald Go.
War Commodities Too High.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THERE'S QUITE a row in England over the Tory government's virtual banning of visits of Socialists from any other country, if they plan to speak in England. Now British Laborites are saying that the Tory government secretly favors the Fascists and the Nazis, in so far as their ideas of government are concerned, but bitterly opposes them in so far as their colonial ambitions are concerned.

It is no secret that France has been fearful of the British government backing out on it in the Spanish crisis. But Mussolini insured Britain's adherence when his own colonial ambitions became too great and he threatened Britain's "life line".

MacDONALD

Incidentally, Ramsay MacDonald will retire to private life when Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin goes out. MacDonaald merely is a shell, and is of no further use to the Conservatives, who kept him in the pretense of having a "National" cabinet. Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, who will become prime minister following the coronation in May, has no sentiment concerning MacDonald. And the Laborites long ago termed him a traitor to their cause, thus there is no one to whom MacDonald can turn, should he desire to stay in public life.

As to how much longer the Conservatives will carry on, no one seems willing to guess at the moment. If the Laborites had leadership, the Conservatives would not be in long. But there is as little oppositionistic movement in England as in other countries.

CONCERTED MOVE?

President Roosevelt's recent remarks that the prices of durable goods, such as steel and copper, were too high, coincided with similar suggestions in England by the British government.

Both the British and American governments are finding that armament costs are mounting higher than estimates because of the increasing prices of such commodities as steel and copper. In fact, the war god is bidding up prices all over the world—another feature of the race to outstrip one another in armaments.

JAPANESE, TOO

Japanese officers, also, have been participating in the Spanish civil war, on the side of General Franco's rebels. At least, the Loyalists say they recently captured several Japanese officers, including two generals, commanding non-Spanish units.

RUNCIMAN

The recent visit of Walter Runciman, powerful British industrialist and cabinet member, to President Roosevelt, soon may assume greater significance. Mr. Runciman is touted in England to become chancellor of the exchequer when Neville Chamberlain steps up to the prime ministership. Sir Johns Simon is his opponent for the place, and is popular with the voters, but Mr. Runciman represents the most powerful financial and colonial interests. If he becomes chancellor of the exchequer, it is considered probable that the overhanging debt to the United States will be disposed of in some manner to make exchange of credits possible. In case of war, Britain must have credit arrangements in the United States—private, of course, but dependent on bond sales.

NEUTRALITY POSSIBLE?

British statesmen frankly say the United States cannot remain neutral if Great Britain is involved.

They are more than frank—they are blunt.

There has been similar neutrality sentiment in Canada. Sentiment in this dominion has been much like sentiment in the United States—no more intervention in European affairs.

But the British are shrewd. Large

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

BEWARE—TAKE CARE.

From time immemorial there has been an unquestionable superstition that every woman wishes to marry and that to be called an old maid is something for all women to avoid as would the Devil dodge Holy Water.

Consequently, men have been compelled to watch their step if they desired to make their own choice of wife. Propinquity has always been dangerous, for while there is such a thing as "love at first sight," love has generally overtaken people of both sexes if they dally too long in close acquaintance.

Now, along comes one who has some advice to give to maids desiring to win the affection of men. He says the following expressions are sure fire:—

"You're so different." "I can't see you again."

"You have the power to hurt me so." "I could hate you passionately, if I didn't love you so intensely."

"Who taught you to kiss so wonderfully."

This Love expert also adds this advice to girls:

"Remember Tantalus. 'A woman who gives too much gets too little.' Delay, evade, postpone, promise. A clever fisherwoman baits her hook with denial."

First part of this advice as to sure-fire remarks isn't bad, but that last part goes only for raving beauties.

Rowan didn't carry a message. Reorganization Widening Split

Congress And President Disagree Over Best Method Of Changing Machinery

COMPTROLLER JOB IS VACANT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Signs multiply that President Roosevelt and congress decidedly differ as to the best method of reorganizing governmental machinery in the interest of greater compactness, enhanced efficiency and reduced expenditures.

The presidential plan calls for more executive authority over Uncle Sam's use of his money.

Congress apparently is disinclined to yield it.

The issue is mightily important. Congress always has been supposed to have control over the national purse strings. The theory is that the president can't get far with any scheme of his executive own unless it is legislatively (that is to say, congressionally) financed.

CONGRESS' ATTITUDE

Congress traditionally has been hostile to any attempt to deprive it of the least modicum of this veto power, hitherto exercised by it, over presidential policies.

However, it has been inconvenient for the legislators to keep an eye upon each item of executive spending.

Therefore, something more than 15 years ago, it created the office of comptroller general of the United States, to be filled by a functionary charged with the job of checking each item of executive output, and with congressional authority to overrule it if he saw fit, speaking in congress' name, regardless of the White House's opinion in the matter.

POST UNFILLED

In order to keep this official entirely independent of political influences it was provided that the incumbent was to be guaranteed a 15-year term, irremovable except for misconduct, but ineligible to reappointment.

John Raymond McCarl got the post.

He proved to be an ideal deputy from congress' standpoint, everlastingly overruling expenditures which executive folk considered all right; but of course his decisions have been anathema to the government's executive branch.

But recently his 15-year term expired.

Since then the president, who is supposed to refill the office, has not done so. Richard N. Elliott, previously McCarl's assistant, has been acting comptroller general—not on a 15-year basis but from day to day.

A DIFFERENCE

Naturally this makes Elliott a purely political office holder, dependent upon executive tolerance.

It is not a satisfactory situation as a permanency.

Accordingly the executive commission on governmental reorganization proposes the assimilation of the general accounting office into the treasury department, its duty being to decide, AFTER expenditures have been made, whether or not they were legitimate.

The congressional committee on reorganization, however, proposes the strengthening of a setup to PREVENT illegal expenditures from being made.

That is the nub:

Prevention of illegality.

Or discovery of illegality, too late to do anything about it.

AS STEWART SEES IT

There are two governmental reorganization setups:

1. The president's, under direction of Louis Brownlow, which aims at executive consolidation, and probably, at increased efficiency of a Fascist sort.

2. Congress', under the auspices of Chairman (Senator) Harry F. Byrd's joint congressional committee, seeking reorganization along democratic lines.

It is not a split between the two parties. It is a split across both of them.

Yes, sir; it's awful when sit-down strikers ignore the law. And—er—doesn't the law say something about collective bargaining.

Bundah, a gentle elephant in Sumatra, had a passion for bananas. Else, four-year-old flaxen haired daughter of the owner, one day in a sudden spurt of boldness offered a banana to the big lumbering animal. Bundah moved forward with alacrity to accept it but the small girl was seized with sudden panic, retreated and ran down the path with banana clutched in her outflung hand. Bundah saw only that the precious fruit was escaping. She trumpeted and went after it. Else's mother came running out on the wide veranda and saw the shrieking child being pursued by the elephant. The little girl slipped... and fell squarely in front of the oncoming feet. The world went black for the mother but when she recovered it was to joy, not tragedy, for the elephant had swerved aside with a speed unbelievable in such a seemingly clumsy bulk, had caught the little girl up in her trunk, set her safely upright and then, gently but firmly, disengaged the banana... and had eaten it!

A contractor appeared at the home tenanted by John Wilding and repapared the downstairs rooms, redecorated the bathroom and repaired a chimney. The owners, Dr. Eugene Simpson and Walter Bloes, said they had not ordered the repairs and said they found the repairs were intended for a house in the rear of the one they own.

Today Is The Day

war orders have been placed with Canadian firms. This has created a new "prosperity" in Canada.

Now, let us look at the matter even closer. We read in the liberal and frank Manchester Guardian:

"In United States quarters here (in London) there is keen interest in the matter, for the close interlocking of Canadian and American finance and raw material takes the simplicity out of the question of United States neutrality, too. The recent orders are for steel products, and Canadian furnaces depend mainly on American coal and American ore, so American mines will help Britain over her steel shortage. . . .

"Another possible use of Canada as British supply base is suggested by the information that a large oil firm which operates both in England and in Canada is undertaking to establish large oil reserves in Halifax. Since this firm is financed by United States and British capital, another illustration is provided of the complexity of the American neutrality question. The participation of United States capital in Canadian industry is, of course, well known, but the British rearmament program gives it a new significance."

Just pin that in your hat for future reference.

FREEPORT

Do you know that Freeport, which was a busy port center on Lake Erie before the city of Erie was founded, today offers hardly enough room to land a row-boat?

The old port of Freeport is located on Route 99, one mile north of North East (Routes 20-89) in the northeast corner of Erie county.

Routes 99 and 20 skirts the lake shoreline. Before the founding of Erie this was the chief landing place for small boats. It is still listed as a port in the Geographical Survey of the Great Lakes, but nothing larger than a row-boat could land at the old port.

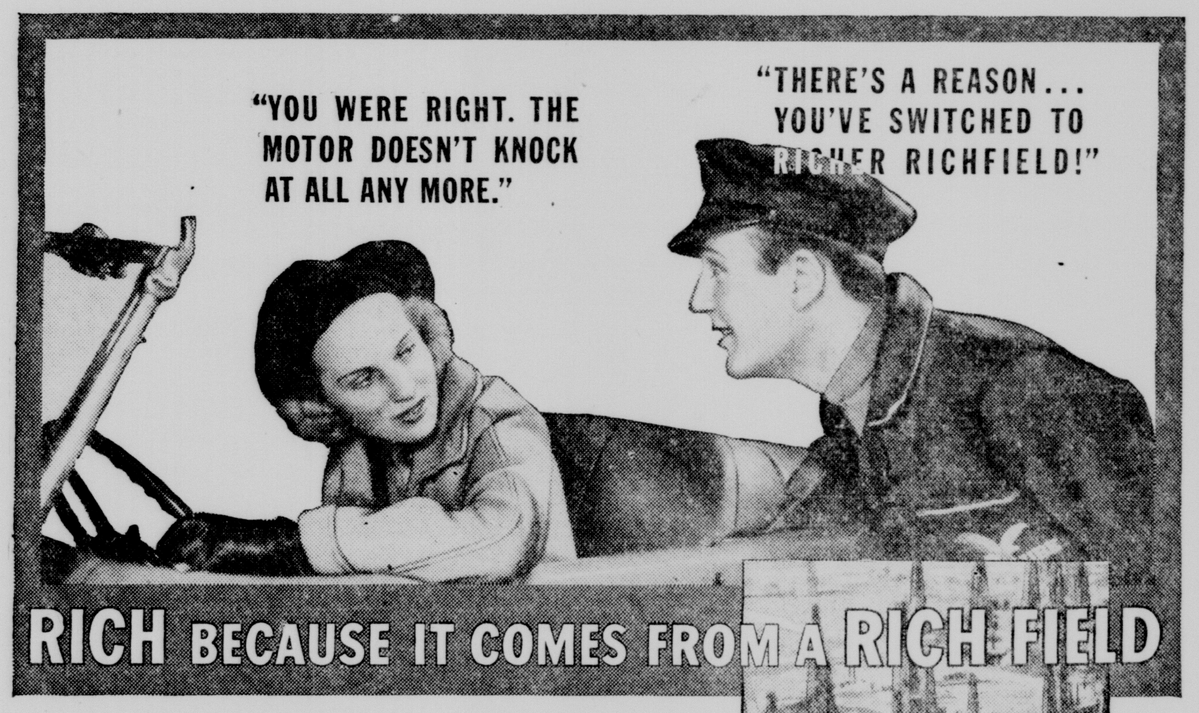

This section is in the very heart of Erie County's grape belt.

Swing Music Is Co-eds' Favorite

But Collegians Are More Inclined To Favor Waltz Type Dance Rhythm

TAKE VOTE ON STUDENTS' LIKES

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 8—Swing music may satisfy the college co-eds but not the collegians. In a vote of over 600 college students on Westminsters college campus women students choose swing music by a 3 to 1 majority, but the collegians gave a slight edge to waltz type dance rhythm.

The questionaire vote leaves several conclusions to be drawn: women are more sensitive to intricate dance rhythms than men; women are more susceptible to fads in dance, dress and all things than men; and women, by dancing more than the male collegians become more skilled in the latest oddities of dance steps.

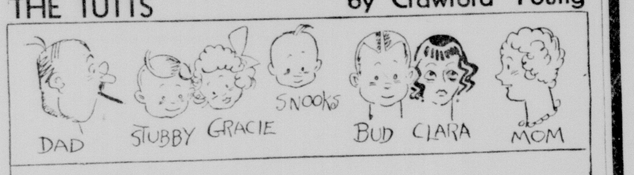

College dance orchestras who invariably feature their dances with about three-fourth swing music and one fourth the melody-waltz type take heed: collegians are divided on a fifty-fifty basis between swing and waltz. The heaviest vote against swing music came from men in the freshman and sophomore classes, probably because swing rhythm presents more difficulties in dance skill.

Their closing programs for this tour will be presented in First church, New Castle, and the Plymouth Congregational church at Youngstown, on Sunday. Lindberghs Are Found At Munich

(International News Service)

MUNICH, Germany, April 8.—Hardly recognized by passers-by although they kept nearly the whole world guessing for 36 hours while they were "missing", Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh went for a leisurely stroll about Munich today.

Their plane, in which they arrived here Tuesday night in strict secrecy, was refuelled in preparation for the next stage of their flight back to England after an aerial tour of India.

Col. Lindbergh declined to reveal his next destination, but it was believed he and his wife would fly to London this afternoon.

WELCOME TO MY 'TEMPORARY' STORE
at 121 EAST NORTH STREET
OPENS TOMORROW AT 9 A. M. WITH A BRAND NEW STOCK OF SPRING CLOTHING!

AS YOU all know, my store was badly damaged by fire. It will soon be rebuilt. But, in order that I may continue to serve my many customers and friends without further delay, I have arranged to take temporary quarters in the Temple Building at 121 East North Street. If my temporary store is not as up-to-date as I would like it to be, I hope you will bear with me. This condition will be remedied as rapidly as possible, as I intend having my Washington Street store entirely renovated and modernized, with new decorations and a brand new stock!

I am offering the people of this city brand new merchandise, because I felt that I could not conscientiously guarantee the wear of the goods which were damaged by smoke or water and I, therefore, sold the entire damaged stock to a salvage company in Philadelphia. Your friendship and good-will mean a great deal to me and that is why I will not conduct a fire sale, which would undoubtedly bring me much profit! I intend to keep faith with the people who have traded in my store for over thirty years—and I never have sold or will sell a garment that I do not guarantee!

Be sure you come in and see the smart new Spring clothing which has been brought here to New Castle from the New York market. Every article is fresh, fashionable apparel, which has just been selected especially for our temporary store. Many of the manufacturers gave us special values in order to co-operate with us during this emergency and the savings will be passed on to you. As usual, I offer you friendly credit terms, at no extra charge.

Counting on your friendly co-operation during this emergency, I remain,

Sincerely yours,
Julian Goldman

Says Sit-Down Strikes Will Be Smashed In U. S.

(BULLETIN)

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Praise for the farmers and workers who drove sit-downers out of the Hershey Chocolate Co., plant was voiced in the house today.

Rep. Robert Rich (D) of Pennsylvania predicted that farmers and loyal workers in all parts of the country will rise up to smash sit-down strikes

"The farmers of this country are going to show the sit-downers in Hershey and the sit-downers here and in the senate what they are going to do," said Rich. "It is an example to congress and to the people of this country of what the farmers are going to do to protect their right to sell their product."

State Authority In Need Of Funds

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, April 8.—Indicating a possible abandonment of its PWA negotiations, the general state authority today asked the state teachers' retirement fund board to obtain an attorney general's opinion on the legality of purchasing authority bonds.

The request came in the wake of national News Service, that "strings" attached to PWA's offer of a $20,000,000 grant and $50,000,000 loan might force Pennsylvania to find financing for its state building program elsewhere. Commercial loans and sale of bonds to the retirement fund were the alternatives suggested.

The board was asked to ascertain whether the bonds the authority proposes to issue can be purchased for trust funds such as the teachers' fund, and whether such bonds would be tax-free.

McMillen To Continue Audit

Inasmuch as the audit of city solicitor department books from May 5, 1924, to May 3, 1936, has not been completed by C. L. McMillen, auditor, council today in meeting at the City Hall passed Finance Director J. L. Fink's resolution authorizing McMillen to continue on the job for three more months. The auditor started the work last August. His salary is $5 per day.

Council was of the opinion, they said, that the work having been started but not yet finished, it would be a waste of money if the work were stopped now.

Real Bull Story, Sit-Downers Do Not Stay Long

(International News Service)

ITHACA, N. Y., April 8.—Farmer John Brown quickly broke up a sit-down strike among his two hired men today.

The cows were in their stalls ready for milking when the boys "planked themselves on their stools and declared a strike for more pay," the farmer stated.

"I happened to think of Neb. That bull is so doggoned ornery we don't dare take him out without clamping a lead pole in his nose ring," he continued.

"I just opened the stall door and turned him loose and before you could say Jack Robinson there wasn't a sit-down striker in sight."

Library Planning Around The World Trip For Readers

Many Miles May Be Traveled By Public Via Book Shelf At Public Library

Nothing could be more thrilling at the present time than a trip around the world, is the opinion of Miss Alice Joyce, children's librarian for the free public library. With this in view, Miss Joyce has planned a trip by which thousands of miles will be traveled, and not cost the traveller one cent.

The magic of this trip is of course that the countries will be visited through the medium of books. There is a list of books on display at the library called, "Around the World in Books," which may be consulted by the young travelers.

Each child starting on this trip selects a brightly colored paper airplane and charts his course just as an aviator does when he plans an air trip. There will be a large map on the wall so that each traveler may trace his journey. He may want to start off from the west coast or he may leave New York and make his first stop at Iceland. His next stop may be England and so on until he has read 10 books.

As he returns each book at the library he makes a short report on it, and his plane is moved forward, indicating his advancement. The first meeting of the "Around the World Travel Club" will be held in the story hour room on Thursday after school.

Hits Legislation In Kawanis Talk

Dr. Womer Scores Act Before Legislature; Junior Kiwanians Change

Members of the Kiwanis club, meeting at The Castleton for their weekly luncheon yesterday, heard Dr. W. A. Womer, secretary of the Lawrence County Medical society, warmly denounce a bill before the Pennsylvania legislature which provides for the establishment and administration of a system of compulsory health insurance.

Speaking under the auspices of the Medical society of the State of Pennsylvania, Dr. Womer assailed the legislation, now resting in committee, as "un-American" and declared that "every one will be penalized for the benefit of a few."

Dr. Womer is speaking before local groups in order to acquaint the public of the measure. The medical organizations are opposing it along with other groups.

Junior Kiwanians Honored

Yesterday was "Junior Kiwanian Day" at Kiwanis and the two Junior Kiwanians of the past three months, Paul Rumbaugh and Reid Shiner, retired at the close of the meeting. Their successors, Thomas Cramer and Gilbert Colnot, were formally introduced.

Featuring was a vocal number sung by Gerald Ward, a George Washington junior-senior high student. Dr. Womer was his piano accompanist.

Among the guests was W. W. Barry, now of Pittsburgh, a past president of the Kiwanis club of Halifax, capital and chief city of Nova Scotia.

College Students Strongly Against 'Packing' Court

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 8.—Westminster college collegians registered a four to one vote of disapproval for enlarging the supreme court yesterday, in a questionnaire circulated to the student body.

Most of the support for packing the court came from freshman groups, with the senior class voting solidly to hold the nine-man ranking. Indifference to the outcome of the vote came only in the freshman class, where twenty per cent of those voting registered noncommital votes. Only four votes out of a possible 100 in the senior class favored a new supreme court status.

Most of the votes in favor of the proposals of President Roosevelt came from men, with women presenting a solid front of opposition.

Prepare To Resume Operations At Hershey

(International News Service)

HERSHEY, Pa., April 8—With sit-down strikers forcibly evicted from the Hershey chocolate corporation plant by irate farmers unable to market their milk, company officials today made plans for resumption of operations "in a couple of days."

Sit-downers, occupying the plant for the second time in the week-old strike called by the United Chocolate Workers of America, CIO affiliate, were driven from the plant yesterday by some 2,000 farmers and "loyal" workers during a half-hour melee in which clubs, pipes, whips and stones flew freely and about a score of persons were hurt. Most of those suffered battered heads, scratches and bruises.

Ordered Sit-Downers Out

The disturbance, first since sit-downers closed operations at the chocolate plant in this "model" community last Friday, broke out yesterday just a few minutes after farmers and sympathizers had given the strikers on company property a fixed time to "get out or be thrown out." The clash started when the first striker reached the doorway of the employes' entrance and tried, with none too much success, to run the gauntlet of club-armed "loyalists." Union leaders were ferreted out and chased out of town.

Russell Behman, president of the United Chocolate Workers local was badly beaten and ordered to "get out of town and stay out." Miles Sweeney, CIO regional director, got the same orders but he escaped some of the outlet for non-strikers' anger.

State police arrived on the scene after the battle subsided and went about dispersing the crowds jammed in the streets and completing the job of clearing the building of a few remaining sit downers. Who ordered the troopers was undetermined. There was no further disturbance after they got there.

Violence Flares

The violence flared after a "pep" meeting of Central Pennsylvania farmers who faced heavy losses as a result of the collapse of the market for their milk because of the strike. The Hershey concern buys about 800,000 pounds of milk daily. Farmers claimed it was costing them thousands of dollars daily and ordered the sit-downers out of the plant sc "peace" negotiations, broken off by company officials when the sit-downers went back into the plant, could go forward.

"We have a force of between 300 and 400 men in the plant getting things in order for resumption of full-time operations," a spokesman at the superintendent's office said today. "We expected to get going within several days. It will require some time to clean things up and get machinery in order."

Sheriff's deputies patrolled the company grounds and guarded entrances to the plant today but the company reported "everything quiet."

People Enraged

William F. R. Murrie, president of the Chocolate Company, in a statement issued late yesterday, said "It is difficult for me to say something" about the disturbance in this "peaceful community."

The chocolate company head said the strike "enraged the people of Hershey and surrounding communities" and deprived the farmers of a market for between 700,000 and 800,000 pounds of milk daily. He did not say definitely when the plant planned to resume operations.

The strike started over demands of the CIO for a "closed shop" and a check-off system of union dues collection among other grievances. The union ordered the strike, charging company officials "fired" mostly unionists during the dull season. Union spokesmen could not be found for comment on their future plans, if any.

How shabbily an idea gets treated! Praised and cherished while it feeds you; divorced as soon as it costs you something.

Huge Increase Seen In Cost Of Dreadnaughts

By ROBERT G. NIXON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Congressional inquiry into the half billion dollar plus annual outlay for the navy today revealed each of the two new projected battleships which will cost well over double the price of the last dreadnaught added to the American fleet.

The government paid $26,894,000 for the U. S. S. West Virginia, commissioned in 1923, and last of the capital ships to be built.

Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chief of the bureau of construction and repair, disclosed the estimate for each of the new battleships, keels for which will be laid early in July, is $60,173,000.

This cost has soared by $7,000,000 within the past year. When the navy submitted estimates on battleship construction to congress last year it placed the cost of each of the two new battleships, plans for which were then laid in event another major power began capital ship construction on expiration of the London treaty December 31, 1936, at $53,000,000.

This $7,000,000 jump in 12 months was ascribed by Admiral Land as being chiefly due to the leave and holiday law which, he said, has increased labor costs about nine per cent.

The two new ships will be of 35,000 tons displacement. The West Virginia displaces 31,800 tons. Their speed is placed by the navy at approximately 27 knots, or from seven to eight knots faster than other capital ships in the fleet.

Admiral Land ascribed the vastly increased cost to labor, speed, displacement and material.

JAIL BARS SONG BARS TO HIM

James R. Tarleton

Jail apparently is just the thing for James R. Tarleton, Charlotte, N. C., song composer. For Tarleton, who composed "The Birmingham Jail" song, now part of the south's folk music, has done most of his composing behind bars. "The Birmingham Jail" song gained him his freedom in 1923 at the age of 19, from a sentence for bootlegging. Jimmy says he did the same thing in Atlanta, Ga., and in Texas, composing jail songs and being freed because officials liked the tunes. Tarleton, now reformed, is shown behind bars at Birmingham, Ala., but merely on a visit this time.

Judge Dismisses Inhuman Charges Against Beatty

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 8—Lion-tamer Clyde Beatty was surprised today when a judge refused to believe he had mistreated his animals.

Haled into court by a humane society agent, Beatty was about to explain that he treated his high-priced animals with all the tenderness due a prima-donna, when Magistrate Anthony Burke told his counsel:

"Explain? What is there to explain? Nothing's been proved. Case dismissed."

The judge, it seems, was unconvinced by the testimony of the arresting humane society agent that a growling lion was necessarily an abused lion.

SEVENTEEN TYPES OF OAKS IN STATE

HARRISBURG, April 8. — Research studies recently completed by the Department of Forests and Waters show there are 17 different kinds of oak trees growing naturally in Pennsylvania, Secretary James F. Bogardus announced today.

Since white pine and hemlock have been largely removed for lumber and since the blight has almost eliminated the chestnut, the oaks are more numerous than all the other trees combined, it was revealed. From the standpoint of practical forestry and commercial value, the most valuable are the white oak, red, black and scarlet.

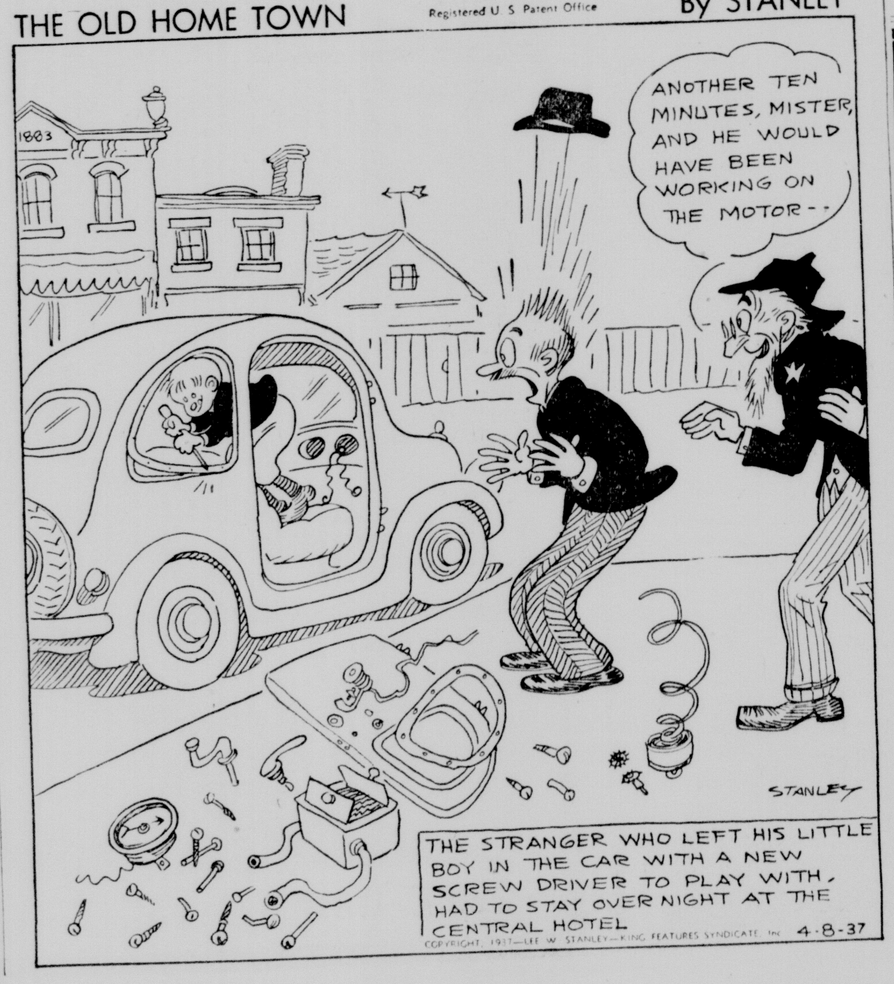

In the fur trade year ended July, 1935, the Dominion of Canada had a raw fur output valued at $12,843,000.

Drain Tile Being Placed On Field At New Airport

See Completion Of New Runways By Latter Part Of Summer According To Levie

Work of placing drain tile at the new airport along the Youngstown road was again under way today. Several months ago work was stopped at the port because of the winter weather preventing any progress being made.

According to Ted Levie, county superintendent, who has charge of this work, a full crew will be put to work at the project on April 20. It is thought that by this time the ground will be firm enough that the stone base for the runways may be laid without too much trouble. Levie also states that after the hard surface base is applied, a covering of asphalt will be applied and finished, similar to the streets covered with black top.

Throughout the entire winter the quarry has been employed mining limestone for the base. This stone has been placed along the runways in piles waiting for the start of the project.

According to Levie, both runways at the field will be in usable condition by the latter part of the summer, and he also states that there is a possibility that the length of the runways may be increased before they are completed.

Plans for the new hangar and operations building have not yet been passed by Washington officials, and this work therefore will not be undertaken until after the runways are completed. However, due to the fact that one of the new runways comes rather near the old hangar, this building may be used satisfactorily until the new plans are given the official okay.

Harry E. Hare Is Fatally Stricken

Taken Seriously Ill, Local Man Dies Before Aid Can Be Secured

Harry E. Hare, aged 45, of 1901 Pennsylvania avenue, who has been employed on the WPA, suffered a stroke while at a tavern on West State street extension at 10:30 last night, and died before medical attention could be secured.

In company with a group of friends, Hare had gone to the tavern for a birthday event, it was stated. During the course of the evening the orchestra leader asked the group, which contained several musicians, to play a piece. Hare, who plays the violin, was leading when he handed the instrument back to the orchestra leader and went outside. It was noticed that he appeared quite ill, and his friends went to his side as soon as the piece was finished. He collapsed then, and was dead by the time he reached the Jameson Memorial hospital, where he was taken in the automobile of one of the group.

Coroner Orville Potter, who was notified, stated death had apparently taken place before he was placed in the car.

Mr. Hare was born at Coal Run, Pa., February 27, 1892, son of Robert and Mary Hare. New Castle had been his home since 1915 and he had been employed as a telegrapher most of that time. He was a well-known musician and often played the violin at public gatherings.

His wife, Florence Caruthers Hare, to whom he had been married 25 years; two sons, Harry and Wayne; one daughter, Maxine, all at home, and one brother, Clem, of Meyersville, Pa., survive.

Funeral services will be conducted in the residence Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Thomas B. Shearer of the Central Christian church in charge. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Correct this sentence: "Doc said I'd get well quicker if I'd quit smoking," said the man, "so I quit."

Will Have Roles In School Play

Mary McLaughlin, Estelle Cukerbraum And Beatrice Sandler Are In Cast

Mary McLaughlin — Estelle Cukerbaum

Mary McLaughlin is cast as the jealous wife of one of the principals of the senior high school play, "A Pair of Sixes". Mary is one of the popular and well-known students of the school, being active in the Girl Reserves, the Leaders' club, the Etiquette club and one of the basketball teams. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McLaughlin of Edison avenue.

Estelle Cukerbaum plays a parellel role as the fiance of the other principal in the comedy. "Cookie" needs no introduction to the high school crowd. She is a member of Senatus Romanus, the French club, the Leaders' club; she is a monitor in the student government organization. Her name appears regularly on the honor roll of the school. Estelle is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cukerbaum of Laurel Boulevard.

Beatrice Jeanne Sandler has the indespensible comedy role of a low class English maid. "Sandy" knows a good butler when she sees one and when one of the principals comes to her employer's home, unwillingly masquerading as a butler, her heart starts hammering and she believes that all the man needs is encouragement. Her efforts to overcome his apparent shyness are worth the price of the admission ticket. Beatrice is a class representative in the student government organization and an honor student in her academic hours. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sandler of East Moody avenue.

County Sabbath School Leaders Have Conference

Stanley R. Kendig, Leadership Training Superintendent of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association and David W. Witte, of the Pittsburgh Baptist Association, held a conference with a few of the County Association leaders relative to the provision for better teaching facilities in the Sunday Schools.

Arrangements were made at this conference to secure Rev. Fred Wilkins, pastor of the St. Paul's Evangelical and Reformed church of Pittsburgh, to present the plan he is using with good success to the annual county convention to be held at the Third United Presbyterian church, New Castle, Thursday, June 10th. He will also hold a pastor's conference dealing with the problem which is one of the most vital that face the Sunday Schools today.

The many in Lawrence county who have known Mr. Kendig during his nine years of service with the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School Association will regret to learn that he is leaving the state, but will be pleased to know that he has received a much-deserved promotion He is to become the General Secretary of the Michigan State Sunday School Association.

North Carolina Democrat Assails Court Proposal

Condemns It As "Startling, Shocking, And Un-American" At Hearing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8—President Roosevelt's supreme court plan was condemned today as "startling, shocking and un-American" by Judge J. S. Manning, of Raleigh, N. C., a voting Democrat since 1880.

The 75 year old North Carolinian upheld the right of the supreme court to declare acts of legislatures unconstitutional, praised the American system of majority rule and protested against any measure tending to enlarge the high tribunal in order to change its decisions. He was to be followed to the witness stand at the senate judiciary committee's hearing by Seigfried Hartman, of New York City, author of a revised NRA and head of the anti-Nazi boycott in this country.

Administration leaders in the senate meanwhile announced they will speed final enactment of the Sumners act, just passed by the house. This bill would authorize the attorney general to intervene in private suits in federal courts, when constitutional issues are raised. It also would authorize a direct appeal to the supreme court in any case in which a federal law is held unconstitutional by the trial court.

HAPPY RELIEF FROM PAINFUL BACKACHE

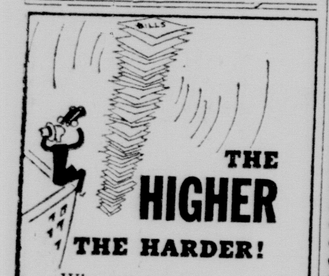

Caused by Tired Kidneys

Many of those gnawing, nagging, painful backaches people blame on colds or strains are often caused by tired kidneys—and may be relieved when treated in the right way.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, lumbago, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Strikes In Canada Close Two Plants

Two G. M. Plants Affected—About 4,200 Men Are Out Of Work

(International News Service)

WINDSOR, Ont., April 8—The two general plants in Canada were closed because of a strike today, throwing a total of 4,200 men out of work.

The plants affected were:

The General Motors assembly plant at Oshawa, 3,700 workers.

The motor building plant at Walkersville, 500 men.

According to General Motors officials, the Oshawa plant was closed by a strike called by the United Automobile Workers Union, and the plant at Walkersville was closed as it had no outlet for its motors.

GM officials said the Canadian plants were not covered in the March 12 permanent peace agreement which ended the recent 44-day GM strike in the United States.

The Oshawa strike was a walkout, not a sid-down. Sit-downs are barred in Canada.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and ache all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets are based on the same method used by doctors. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used successfully to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

BELIEVE EIGHT ON PLANE KILLED INSTANTLY

Rescuers Reach Scene Of Crash

Plane Is "Spread All Over Mountain Side" Is Report From Scene

TWO OF BODIES OUT OF PLANE

(International News Service)

McNARY, Ariz., April 8—All eight persons aboard the huge Douglas transport plane which crashed into Mount Baldy died almost instantly.

That was the report today of a weary band of searchers, who battled 20-foot snowdrifts to reach the wreckage 35 miles east of here.

Guided by signals from planes the ground crew fought its way to the wrecked plane, 8,500 feet up the desolate mountain. After examining the wreckage, the searchers returned here without attempting to move the bodies.

Remove Bodies Today

Armed with equipment, they will start later today in an effort to get out the dead.

Members of the searching party said the huge $125,000 plane was "spread all over the hillside." The plane's tail, they said, was a quarter of a mile from the rest of the wreckage.

Two of the bodies had been thrown clear and were frozen. The other six were inside the plane and badly burned. All apparently had died almost instantly from the terrific impact.

Victims Aboard

Those aboard the ill-fated ship were: Glen Moser, pilot and his father, E. R. Moser; Merle Estey, Douglas Engineer and his wife; co-pilot Joseph Wolford; Mrs. B. B. Brunderlin, mother of a Douglas employe; and Donald Kent and Bernard Troy, Jr., friends of the pilots.

The plane was being "dead-headed" from the Douglas aircraft company's plant at Santa Monica, Cal., to New York for transshipment to the Royal Dutch airlines in Europe.

Three Convicted In Bradford Case

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., April 8.—The three defendants convicted in trials arising from a $1,300,000 loss alleged by the government in the closed Commercial National bank of Bradford will be sentenced in Pittsburgh when he returns, Federal Judge R. M. Gibson said today.

Originally 11 were indicted in the case but eight were freed by jury verdicts and on directed verdicts of acquittal granted by Judge Gibson.

Those facing sentence are: Stanley B. Benton, a former note teller at the bank, found guilty by a jury of making four false entries in his books; Howard J. Benson, who pleaded no defense to making one false entry and was adjudged guilty and Howard L. Miller, note teller, who made no defense to two charges of embezzlement and two of false entry.

Would Repeal Bill Publishing Salaries In U. S.

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 8—Repeal of the law under which the treasury reports all corporation salaries of $15,000 a year or more was proposed today by Chairman Doughton of the house ways and means committee.

"These salary lists are an awful nuisance and do not accomplish anything," said Doughton. "There are people copying these lists and peddling them throughout the country for $100 each. It is an outrage."

Air mishaps accounted for only .02 per cent of the total number of transportation accidents in France during 1935.

Need For Systematic Criminal Code Urged Upon State Solons

By TONY S. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, April 8.—Beckoned by the administration, the Democratic-dominated legislature moved toward enactment of a systematic criminal code to replace the present "chaotic" patchwork of criminal laws in Pennsylvania.

Culminating months of extended study by the justice department and students of criminal law delegated by it, two bills were before the lawmakers which would "modernize" the commonwealth's system of expediting criminal justice and "simplify" criminal court procedure.

Stamp Of Approval

Drafted under the supervision of Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti and incorporating suggestions brought forward at the Pennsylvania crime conference, held here, the measures were introduced in the senate by Senator Glen R. Law, (D), Mercer.

Scoring the "inconsistencies of the present criminal laws that retard the administration of justice and work hardships on the general public," Margiotti placed his stamp of approval on the new code which would:

Collect all criminal offenses heretofore scattered through the statute laws of Pennsylvania and arrange them in logical order so that the definition and provisions with regard to any offense may be readily located under a specific division of the code.

Define one and only one offense under each section of the code, to facilitate the drawing of indictments and other pleadings.

Standardize punishments imposed for various offenses. Heretofore, in many instances, crimes of a comparatively minor character were punished more severely than more serious crimes.

Too Much Confusion

Eliminate confusion as to where a prisoner convicted of a crime shall serve his sentence by letting the length of the sentence determine to what institution he shall go. At the present time there is great uncertainty and confusion as to whether prisoners shall serve their sentences in the state's penitentiaries, county workhouses or other institutions.

Abolish attempts to cover the numerous trivial offenses that are punished by summary proceedings before the minor judiciary. Include no specific offenses created to enforce general regulatory statures, such as the tax and motor vehicle laws of the state.

Provide for a uniform practice of criminal procedure in the various county courts.

AROUND CITY HALL

City of New Castle during March paid $3,045.46 state tax on outstanding bonds according to J. L. Fink, finance director who also said that the city had redeemed during the month $1,969.00, worth of improvement certificates. In addition the city paid $888.20, interest on Improvement certificates and paid out $5,675.62 on streets and bridges. Cost of renewing liens was given as $121.30. Other expenditures last month were as follows:

Office of mayor, $371.48; office of four councilmen, $1,116.21; city clerk $188.40; city controller, $397.65; tax assessment $250.10; city treasurer, $997.42; solicitor's office, $1,142.10 public buildings, $597.17; municipal garage, $124.99; bureau of electricity, $44.20; police department, $6,199.43; fire department, $7,466.75; weights and measures, $78.00; health bureau $442.90; sanitary sewers and disposal plant, $1,426.12; public comfort station, $461.96; collection and disposal of garbage, $2,705.25; engineering department, $518.87; storm sewers, $527.99; street cleaning, $761.71; street lighting, $5,376.85; relief projects, $802.50; parks, $891.15; Cascade park, $374.39; playgrounds, $35.28; golf course, $218.27; compensation liability and insurance $201.50 and interest on bonds, $112.50.

New lights ordered installed some time ago are now in operation, according to attaches of the Pennsylvania Power company. The last to be turned on were those in North Jefferson street. Their illumination was delayed by a new transformer which has been installed. They had 600 c. p. lights in the downtown section and 250 c. p. lights along The Narrows.

NOW QUICKER RELIEF FOR PILES

ZIRIL (formerly IRIL) suppositories, were first developed for the use of doctors who specialize in rectal disorders. They have a five-way action that has led physicians to call them the ideal treatment for the quick relief of the horrible discomfort of hemorrhoids. They stop all pain within a few seconds: they check bleeding quickly; they promote healing of broken tissues and fissures; they soften and lubricate, making bowel movement easy and painless. ZIRIL suppositories contain no narcotics or harmful drugs; they are safe for home use.

ZIRIL is also made in the form of an ointment for quick relief of itching, burning and soreness accompanying erternal or protruding piles. ZIRIL Suppositories comes in two sizes—50 cents and $1.00 per box; ZIRIL Ointment costs only 50¢ for a generous size tube.

Mexican Election Set For July

(International News Service)

MEXICO, D. F.—Some seventy-five members of the Federal Congress are to be elected by direct vote of the Mexican people next July and the electoral activities throughout the Republic are already taking definite shape.

The P. N. R. (National Revolutionary Party) is busy preparing primaries in which the party candidates will be chosen. These candidates will have the backing of the C. T. M. (Mexican Labor Confederation) which is the strongest national labor body, as well as of the majority of organized peasant bodies. Women belonging to labor or peasant organizations are not only free but encouraged to vote in all P. N. R. internal elections.

PORTLAND, Ore.—A church-going hitch-hiker was arrested by police here because he tried to relieve his swollen feet. The man was taken into custody by police after he broke into the Lutheran Emanuel church and visited the men's room to wash his bleeding pedal extremities. He said he was a hitch-hiker from Minnesota.

Wrote Own Obituary

Mortally wounded in what authorities say was the climax of a newspaper feud at Alturas, Cal., Claude L. McCracken (above), with five bullets in his body, reported his own shooting to a wire service as the last act of his life. His rival in newspaper publishing, Harry French, 30, surrendered to the police.

Grove City May Queen Selected

New Castle Girl Named As One To Have Leading Part In Ceremonies

(Special To The News)

GROVE CITY, April 8.—Miss Eleanor Ketler, daughter of President and Mrs. Weir C. Ketler, of the College, was unanimously elected May Queen, to preside at the annual May Pageant on the campus, at an election in which all co-eds participated. The new office of Junior Queen went to Miss Betty Casey of Pittsburgh, while a complete list of May Day officers chosen are:

Ladies in waiting, Ruth Hauk, New Castle; Mildred Riggle, Tarentum; Roberta Drake, Grove City and Alberta Croyle, Worthington, all seniors. Marshal of the day, Margaret Repine, of Charleroi, a junior. Coronation officer, Helen Carper, Roaring Springs, a junior. Crown bearer, Dorothy Mechler, Grove City, a sophomore. Sceptre bearer, Betty Perrine, Grove City, a freshman.

In being elected Queen of the May, highest honor at the disposal of the co-eds, Miss Ketler follows in the footsteps of her mother, who was chosen to lead the May Festival in 1914, when she was a senior in Grove City College. Miss Eleanor completed her work in February, after an active college career, and was immediately offered a teaching position at Clarion. When it was decided that she was eligible for the post, her unanimous election followed.

Miss Casey, Pittsburgh girl, becomes the first to hold the newly created office of Junior Queen, and will have an important role in the May Day festivities.

Can Pay Legally For New Equipment

Earl Wimer, city controller, has received from City Solicitor William G. Cobau an opinion in which Cobau said council can legally pay $2,100, for a 10-ton roller and an air compressor, bought some time ago and which will be paid for this year.

Wimer had questioned the propriety of payment being made legally because both pieces of equipment cost more than $500.

Cobau ruled that both are rental contracts. When the equipment is paid for the city will own it.

The statutes calls for advertisements for bids for material costing more than $500.

In both transactions there was no intent to evade the purpose of the statute, it was said.

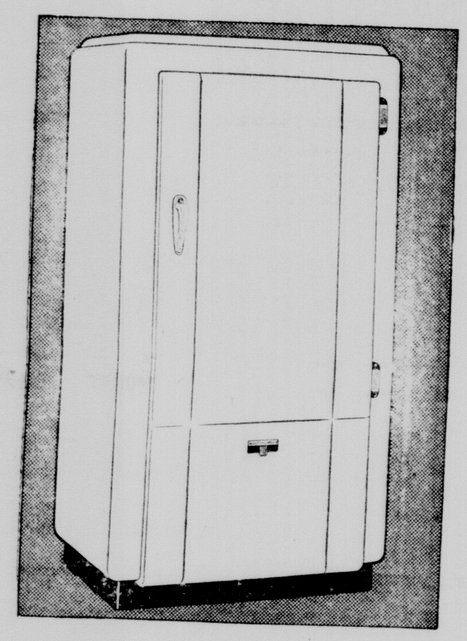

Patriotism has hit bottom when a citizen humiliates his country by making dirty cracks for which it must apologize.

COLDSPOT

CURRENT CUTTER ROTORITE UNIT

gives more cold per dollar

Engineers will tell you that some electric refrigerators cost less to run than Coldspot. But in the same breath they will add that no other refrigerator gives so much power to keep foods perfectly no matter how high the thermometer goes.

That is why we say choose Coldspot for its cold-per-dollar. Because this cold-per-dollar basis is the only standard on which an electric refrigerator can be judged.

But thrift is only part of the big story of this 1937 Coldspot. There's feature after feature you've never seen in a refrigerator before. More conveniences than any one refrigerator ever has offered. See it today and make your own comparisons. You'll find Coldspot thrifty to buy, thrifty to operate, and thrifty in the food it saves through its super-cold.

Human Quirks Are Fascinating

Characteristics Of Great And Near Great Are Related By McIntyre

SEES CHANGE IN HOUSE WORKERS

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, April 8.—Those little quirks that make up the human behavior of the favored class called celebrities are fascinating to watch from the side lines.

O. O. McIntyre

Attitude striking or natural, none is without a display of some minor eccentricity.

When Will and Inez Hayes Irwin attend teas they are invariably found together in the seats nearest the entrance. Alexander Woollcott, bobbing along the street, will at intervals wheel and watch some pedestrian out of sight. William Lyon Phelps always carries an umbrella.

Henry L. Mencken is seldom without a brief case. Guthrie McClintic almost invariably dines out in one of the small tea rooms. Paul Whiteman, in talking to strangers, fidgets with a key chain. Mayor LaGuardia will always be found sitting on one foot.

George Jean Nathan, immaculate dresser, has a sprout of unruly lock sticking up in the back. Gene Tunney will rarely leave his seat at theatrical intermissions. Gelett Burgess, sedate dresser, buys the noisiest shirt he can find once a year. And so it goes. As Andy says: "Most always, it's sumpin.'"

I had dinner the other evening with a Provence family, who had brought with them, three French maids bearing such pretty names as Jeanne, Marie and Gabrielle. With their permission the hostess showed us the three small rooms the girls occupied. They were models of French neatness and charm. Once a year they go to a French ball and about once a month to a neighborhood movie. The rest of their leisure, they sew, knit and paint. It was a pleasant toss back to the days when there was no "servant problem." O, yes, each had a thrift account and had saved two-thirds of pay since being in America.

In our town, the maid of all work, or inelegantly "the hired girl," got from $1.50 a week to $4 top paid by the leading biggity. Often she remained a lifetime with one family and when there was no company ate with them. I recall one who had been employed in a private residence since taken from a children's home and passed away in their employ. Her estate, something around $12,000, was left to her employer's children. She was one of the family and was buried in the family lot.

Economic changes, too, have blotted out that small town character, the odd-job man. Ours was Joe Sheline, who lived across the creek on a hillside patch of several unproductive acres, had a sick cow, a sour well and a yard full of high jimpson weeds. About the most industrious person I have ever known, he cleaned up yards, whitewashed the hen houses, chucked in coal, chopped kindling and such. His pay was $1 a day and on this he somehow managed to rear a large family and give them a high school education. His biggest honor he probably never knew about. The town turned out to his funeral en masse.

Gene Buck, probably the most confirmed of the Broadwayites, has never failed to catch a train or motor to Great Neck where he has lived since the day of his marriage. John Golden is another Great Necker who refuses to stay in the city over night, no matter how late detained. Fred Stone was another who could not abide the town when his professional duties were finished. Then there was that Broadwayite, the late Tommy Gray who swore he could never get a good night's sleep save in a room on the Times Square side of some hotel such as the old Claridge or Astor. Robert Hilliard could never sleep on tour but at his Broadway hotel slept soundly and it was next door to a bowling alley.

An illustration of how the art ambulandi is slowly vanishing in New York is found in the thinning parade of sundown walkers who once circled the gravel path of the Central Park reservoir. Among regulars were Bert Lytell and Charles Dillingham. From 5 to 7 it was a human merry-go-round in fair weather and foul. Today one sees not more than a dozen the entire distance.

Thingumbobs: Buster West is a champion billiard shot . . . Molly Picon, stage darling of the Ghetto, is one of America's wealthiest actresses . . . Rockwell Kent is an accomplished flute player . . . James Cagney was once a bell hop at the Lambs . . . Vincent Lopez always has a go at the piano before breakfast.

My awe of the monocle increases with the years. And when worn by a woman is colossal. Last night I sat near a woman monoclist. And gawked myself smack out of a second helping of stewed chicken with dumplings, for pity's sake.

Hospital Plan Attracts Many

Rush Of Applicants Causes Temporary Delay Of Contracts

JAMESON HOSPITAL WILL MEET DEMAND

Expected to attract a large number of persons into the prepaid hospital plan, the Jameson Memorial hospital has been so rushed with new contracts that some delay has been experienced in getting credentials to the applicants. Speaking on the slight delay today, Dr. W. W. Bissell, managing director of the hospital, said.

As enrollment for membership in the new Jameson Plan Hospital Care gets under way some misunderstandings arise and need to be cleared up. This was expected. The enrollment has been so rapid that it has taxed the capacity of the hospital to issue service contracts. Should there be slight delay in receipt of contracts after mailing enrollments new members need not be apprehensive. Jameson hospital will catch up with enrollment, and contracts will reach their owners in due course.

Housewives And Minors

Housewives and minor children cannot enroll unless they are gainfully employed in regular occupation. They are family dependents and can be enrolled only by the family head—the husband and father who has enrolled himself for either the $6 or $9 per year service. If the family head has not enrolled he cannot enroll his dependents. The family dependent contract costs $10 per year regardless of number of dependents. The cost of enrollment of a family head and all eligible family dependents is therefore either $16 or $19 a year, depending on whether the family head takes out the $6 service plan for ward or semiprivate room care or the $9 per year service for bed care in one of the hospital's better private rooms. A widow is not a housewife. She is eligible to enroll under a $6 or $9 per year service contract. If a widow has minor dependent children she is considered a family head and may enroll her unemployed minor children under a family dependent contract. If a minor child is approaching maturity and has regular gainful employment that juvenile is not eligible for merbership as a dependent but must enroll under his or her own contract at either $6 or $9 per year.

The $6 and $9 services are for family heads, widows, single adults and any person with regular gainful employment regardless of age or sex. The service provides up to 35 days hospital bed care during one year as ordered by the patient's own doctor for treatment of unexpected sickness or injury. At $6 per year bed care is provided in a private ward or semiprivate room; $9 per year provides bed care in one of the hospital's better private rooms.

The $10 per year family dependent service provides unlimited hospital bed care to all eligible family dependents, as ordered by the family doctor for treatment of unexpected sickness or injury, at half the bed rates on bed accommodations selected by the family head for his dependents to occupy. While half rates are charged on posted bed rates there are no extra charges. By those who have never had to pay a hospital bill "extra" charges are not understood. They include: $5 laboratory fee; $5 to $25 X-ray fees; $10 operating room fee; $10 anesthetic fee; $2 to $10 emergency treatment fee; $2 to $35 fee for cast, splint or fracture appliance; $12 per day for oxygen. All these extra-charge services are provided under the family dependent contract as well as the family head contract.

Husband And Wife

It sometimes happens that both the husband and wife have regular gainful employment. In this case each is eligible for enrollment under either the $6 or $9 per year contract. On the other hand, if they have minor dependent children whose protection is desired, the wife may enroll with her minor dependents under the family dependent contract, thereby saving the price of her own individual $6 or $9 contract to which she is entitled. In making this saving, however, the wife must remember that she will be obliged to pay half bed rates if hospitalized, whereas under a $6 to $9 per year contract there are no charges up to 35 days. After 35 days half-rates prevail. A husband and father cannot be enrolled as a family dependent even if the wife is gainfully employed and the husband is not gainfully employed.

The service benefits of the Jameson plan—whether family head or family dependent—do not apply to rest cures, treatment of chronic incurable diseases, quarantinable contagions, chronic incurable infirmaties of old age, continuing convalescence and disorders not admitted to general hospitals. Except in emergencies the services are available only on written order of the patient's own doctor of the patient's own selection and employ. Doctor bills, special nursing and use of expensive serums are not provided for among the service benefits.

Two Members Of Karpis Gang Get Salty Sentences

(International News Service)

CLEVELAND, April 8—Two more members of the Alvin Karpis gang on Wednesday received federal sentences for their part in the Garrettsville, O., mail train robbery in November 1935.

Those sentenced were Fred Hunter and Joe Roscoe, reputed Toledo vice overlord. Hunter, drew concurrent prison sentences of 25 and 10 years. Roscoe, indicted as an accessory for helping the gang escape, received a prison sentence of seven and a half years.

Both men were scheduled for trial, but changed their "not guilty" pleas to "guilty" after attorneys conferred with federal prosecutors and Judge Paul Jones.

ST. WOLFGANG, Austria, April 8.—The Duke of Windsor today was represented as determined to designate Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson to inherit the bulk of his fortune, should she survive him.

Informed by his former equerry, Lieut.-Col. Piers Legh, that the British royal family seeks to avoid such an eventuality, the Duke pointed out he is not likely to have children as a result of his forthcoming marriage with Mrs. Simpson.

Furthering Plans For St. Vitus Fete

Event Scheduled To Take Place In The Cathedral Wednesday, April 28

Judging by plans formulated, the twenty-eighth annual St. Vitus church spaghetti dinner and entertainment, to be held in The Cathedral, Wednesday night, April 28, will be the biggest social event ever sponsored by the South Side institution.

Despite the fact that the event is still a few weeks away, several New Castle business establishments have already reserved tables for their employes, the Rev. Fr. Nicholas DeMita, pastor, announced today. The St. Vitus affair is an annual festival in which all New Castle celebrates. The event will be more of a community affair than it ever has before. The Rev. Fr. DeMita expects a capacity crowd.

The Rev. S. F. Anuskiewicz, assistant pastor of St. Vitus, who has been named as general chairman, by the Rev. Fr. DeMita, is arranging an enjoyable program. The various committees are now being selected and will be announced soon. Bingo and dancing will be among the features on the program.

Why Laxatives Fail In Stubborn Constipation

Twelve to 24 hours is too long to wait when relief from clogged bowels and constipation is needed, for then enormous quantities of bacteria accumulate, causing GAS, indigestion and many restless, sleepless nights.

If you want REAL, QUICK RELIEF, take a liquid compound such as Adlerika. Adlerika contains SEVEN cathartic and carminative ingredients that act on the stomach and BOTH bowels. Most "overnight" laxatives contain one ingredient that acts on the lower bowel only.

Adlerika's DOUBLE ACTION gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old poisonous waste matter that may have caused GAS pains, sour stomach, headaches and sleepless nights for months.

Adlerika relieves stomach GAS at once and usually removes bowel congestion in less than two hours. No waiting for overnight results. This famous treatment has been recommended by many doctors and druggists for 35 years. Take Adlerika one-half hour before breakfast or one hour before bedtime and in a short while you will feel marvelously refreshed.

State Trooper To Be Absolved

(International News Service)

UNIONTOWN, Pa., April 8.—Indictations today were that State Trooper Paul Rittleman would be absolved from all blame in the fatal shooting of Marle Hacker, 20, of Morgantown, W. Va., an alleged bandit.

Coroner S. A. Baltz, in charge of the investigation into the shooting, said that from the facts so far presented to him, he would enter no charges against the trooper, preferring to await the verdict of a coroner's jury.

OLDEST COMMUTER CALLED BY DEATH

HACKENSACK, N. J., April 8.—Mahlon B. Smith, who claimed the double distinction of being the Erie railroad's oldest commuter and the "Dean" of bank tellers in the United States, was dead today at the age of 89. Until taken ill two days ago he had missed the morning train to New York only once in 67 years—during blizzard of 1888.

Smith started his banking career as a messenger in 1867. His son, M. Elwood Smith, is Dean of Oregon State College.

The case of Edith S. Mott against Samuel and William Mooney doing business as Mooney Brothers, was taken up in court room number two on Wednesday morning. This is a case in which the plaintiff asks damages for the death of her husband, the late Dr. B. M. Mott, who was killed on the Wilmington road on December 6 by a truck owned by Mooney Brothers.

In court room number one the case of the City of New Castle against Melinda Hammond was taken up. This is a case in which the city seeks to collect the cost of opening and improving a sewer near the property of the defendant.

The engineer of the Pymatuning Dam has agreed to co-operate with the county commissioners in the matter of holding back water in the dam during the dredging of the Shenango river and the repairing of the Cherry street bridge. The engineer explained to the commissioners on their trip to Turnerville that what water was released between now and the dry months would hardly affect the level of the river at Cherry street, but that he would co-operate as much as was necessary.

The records of the county controller show that the county has spent $176,777.46 for the first three months of the year. In January $47,432.14 was spent from the general fund and $30,233.26 from the poor fund. In February $20,141.04 was spent from the general fund and $9,779.17 from the poor fund. In March $53,256.70 was spent from the general fund and $16,035.15 from the poor fund.

After several years service as a clerk in the office of the county controller, Henry Wettich has resigned to enter the insurance business. He proved to be a capable man in the controller's office, but felt that he could improve himself in private business.

The mystery of the law library has been solved without the aid of any Sherlock Holmes, Philo Vance or a Pinkerton. Judge W. Walter Braham's pipe has been found and the blanket of suspicion has been removed from everybody who goes into the law library.

Several weeks ago the judge laid his pipe carefully away in a nook he has, while he returned to the bench in court room number two. At the next recess the pipe was gone. There are those who might be crass enough to suggest that it was a good thing, but the judge loved the pipe for all its ominous appearance and even more ominous odor. It was his pipe and he had used it so long that it was one of his cherished possessions.

On Wednesday the pipe was found down back of a radiator. The suspicion is that the pipe walked over there itself at least it was strong enough. Anyway, the pipe is found and peace reigns supreme in the law library.

May Force Jim Braddock Into Meeting Maxie

There Is Possibility That Chicago May Not Get Braddock-Louis Bout This Summer

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, April 8—For the first time since all the blather on the heavyweight championship situation began getting an airing months ago, both sides, strangely, were saying approximately the same thing this morning as the final show-down in federal court, Newark, loomed four days ahead. Briefly, the opposing Jacobses—Mike and Ike (alias Joe)—seemed to be almost agreed that, after all, Champion James J. Braddock may have gone all the way to Chicago to train for a fight with Max Schmeling in New York.

May Lose Bout.

Mike, the roving promoter, tacitly conceded the possibility of defeat for the proposed Braddock-Louis Chicago promotion before Federal Judge William Clark on Monday; Joe positively predicted it.

He seemed to think that the Chicago enterprise had not been too fortunate in having the "show cause" injunction case come before Judge Clark who, it appears, is something of a rugged individualist, having held four expensive barristers in contempt of court during the Dutch Schultz hearing. It also seemed that the jurist was of the rich cotton and thread clan whose interest in boxing was nominal, as contrasted with his interest in the sanctity of contracts.

"That's all that has to be decided on Monday," said the Schmeling spokesman. "Who has the binding contract on Braddock? We signed ours with him last summer; he signed with Louis six weeks ago. Besides, he has already accepted around $16,000 in advance money from Madison Square garden on our contract, making it doubly legal and binding."

Jacobs Skeptical.

Possibly Mike Jacobs was beginning to think so, too, for significantly he said after a conference with his attorneys:

"If the Braddock-Louis contract is thrown out, then Braddock and Schmeling most certainly will meet in New York."

It was significant because it was the first time that this particular Jacobs had even so much as hinted that the Braddock-Louis contract might be "thrown out".

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Some of the boys who attended the Jack Trammel-Tiger Jack Fox fight which was won by Fox in the fourth round at Youngstown were somewhat surprised to see Elongated Jack kiss the canvas. However, had they paused they would have recalled that Trammel was tagged by Eddie Blunt in New York and later the Tiger Boy from Spokane presented him with a neat lacing. Ray Gray came through in his second professional fight, but Homer Gray, out of condition, did not last long against Tiger Hardiston. According to reports from different towns boxing has perked up. Good crowds are attending the professional matches. What may be in store for local fans as yet is unknown.

Plans are rapidly going forward for the Lawrence County Sportsmen's association banquet which will be held at the Cathedral April 22. Seth Gordon, Ross Leffler and Charlie French probably will attend the banquet which President Arnold Fraser and committeemen hope to make the biggest of all their banquets.

Andrew Ponzi, of New York, 1935 champion, won from Joe Diehl, of Rockford, Ill., 125 to 65, yesterday at New York to move into a temporary deadlock for fourth place in the world pocket billiard title tournament. Running up a cluster of 74 balls in the sixteenth inning, Ponzi finished off the match to post his third victory in five starts and hand Diehl his sixth setback in the seven tournament matches. He followed another former titleholder, Benny Allen of Kansas City, into the winning column for the afternoon session. Allen came out on top, 125 to 82, in a 23 inning long distance match with Marcel Camp of Detroit. Willie Mosconi of Philadelphia, took his third game in six starts at the night session by beating Fay Gainer of Vineland, N. J., 125 to 42, in 11 innings.

Freddie Spencer, one of the top-notch entries in the six day bicycle race opening Sunday night at Duquesne Garden, Pittsburgh, began his career in road races. From the start he has been one of the leading lights in the bicycle racing game. He is one of the best sprinters in the business, winning the sprint title in 1925 in New York and also won the New York and Chicago six day events.

Sam Snead, of West Virginia, a newcomer to golf's professional ranks, gave the veterans something to think about in the opening round of the $5,000 Tournament of Gardens at Charleston, S. C., Wednesday. He clipped four strokes from the par card of 36-35—71 by turning in a 67. Right on his heels were two veterans, Lighthorse Harry Cooper of Chicago, and Henry Picard of Hershey, the latter victor in the event last year. Picard turned in a pair of 35's and Cooper earned a 35-38.

Japan Sending Strong Tennis Team To U. S.

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 8.—With the Davis Cup teams of Japan and Australia scheduled to arrive on the Pacific coast tomorrow for matches with the United States and Mexico, respectively, Walter Pate, nonplaying captain of the American forces, took occasion today to issue a mild warning in a well modulated voice, to wit:

"Japan may not be as easy for us as every one seems to believe; we, in fact, may have our hands full."

Will Meet Japan

In this series, the United States will play the Japanese at San Francisco April 30 and May 1 and 2, while at the same time Australia will be meeting Mexico at Mexico City, the winners to compete at Forest Hills May 29-31 for the right to appear in the European zone.

"And we have no assurance of ever reaching Europe," Pate said, "despite all you might be hearing. I will say this: That the Davis Cup matches this year look like a toss-up among the United States, Australia and Germany, and that England seems almost certain to lose the trophy—now that Fred Perry has turned professional. We have as good a chance as any of the rest, but no better.

"Getting by Japan may turn out to be an extremely tough task," Pate said. "I have the word of Ellsworth Vines for it that they will present a strong team. We should win, to be sure, but that doesn't mean necessarily that we will."

Seven Teams In Golfing League

Centennial field grandstand has been razed. Workmen have completed tearing down the entire wooden part of the ball park and today Centennial field is just an ordinary empty lot.

(International News Service)

STONE LAKE, Wis., April 8.—Bill Washburn, who has rustled grub in the lumber camps of the North woods for more years than he cares to admit, took charge of the culinary department of Champion Jim Braddock's training camp today.

After attempting to appease the appetite of Braddock and his sparmates at breakfast, Washburn allowed as how he was getting more exercise than the fighters.

With the roads in the vicinity of the champion's cabin on the shores of Lake Sisabagama a quagmire from recent snows and thaws, Braddock confined his roadwork to a 15-mile walk through the woods yesterday, and confined his training for his June bout with Joe Louis in Chicago, to three hours of wood chopping.

Montanez Wants To Meet Lou Ambers Again In Practice Battle

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 8.—Along Broadway today, believe it or not, we find lightweight champion Lou Ambers...and No. 1 contender Pedro Montanez...are planning another over-the-weight match before meeting a third time with the title at stake...

Montanez thinks he can make $100,000 for himself in the next three or four months with these opponents....Henry Armstrong, $25,000...Jimmy McLarnin $20,000, Ambers (non-title) $25,000...Ambers (title) $35,000 to $40,000...

Ambers Is Good

Ambers also has ambitions to meet Armstrong and McLarnin...Incidentally, Armstrong and McLarnin can also do a bit of all right for themselves around these parts.

Fred Apostoli thinks if middleweight champion Freddy Steele turns down Mike Jacobs' flat guarantee of $35,000 for meeting him in May it will only be because Freddy thinks more of a title than money...

Shrewd Deal

Most baseball men think Bucky Harris made the shrewdest deal of the spring...in landing the right-hand hitting Al Simmons to break up his array of left-hand hitters...

And Charley Harvey...dean of fight managers...thinks there are too many of his tribe...and will suggest that the boxing commission bring back the old days...when there were just a few managers each with large stables of scrambled ears...

For the first time in history a Hambletonian candidate will race below the Mason-Dixon line...in the meet starting today at Pete Bostwick's new track at Aiken, S. C....

Army orders today caused a shifting of West Point football coaches...with Lt. Moe Daly, line coach, replacing Capt. Bill Wood as backfield coach...

Seeks Quarterback

Coach Lou Little, again in good health, is trying to find in his squad of 40 Columbia footballers a successor to George Furey, his smart quarterback of last season...Mary Hirsch, first woman to receive a trainer's license here, will be the first to saddle a Kentucky Derby candidate...She owns and trains No Sir.

And here's Joe Gould...Jim Braddock's manager...offering to bet the Braddock-Louis Chicago fight will be sold out a week before the battle...if and when it takes place...Joe says the advance orders are rolling in just like they were for the Tunney-Dempsey affair...And he thinks he can't miss doing $1,250,000.

How Do You Call It?

An infield error by one of the Yankee players in a Citrus league game, and Stanley Bordagaray of the Brooklyns streaks from third to home. Catcher Bill Dickey receives the throw and waits for Bordy. How would you call the play at the plate? Well, Umpire Johnson called the runner out.

Foul Line Keeps Team From High In ABC Tenpins

Al Myers Of Quartermaster Team Has Ten Strikes In Row And Then Makes Foul

By GLEN R. BIRCHARD
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 8.—One step over the foul line and, blooey! some $65 in good Uncle Sam's currency beside the opportunity to glorify in the third highest game ever rolled in an American Bowling Congress tournament was yanked away from the Quartermaster Administration team of the U. S. government league in the world's classic here last night.

Going into the last game working on sessions of 881 and 887, the Quartermasters looked like anyone of hundreds of other teams that have gone through the mill. It was a different story when the tenth and final frame was reached. Not because Al Myers had a string of 10 strikes on top of a starting spare but because it looked as though the team was going to be the first to break into the 1,100 game class.

Joe Falcaro Fails

While this was going on the Reinhart Radio Reserves of Philadelphia, were breaking up the wood for a 3,028, games 949, 1,023 and 1,056, to clamber into third place with the third 3,000-series of the show.

Other big time marks of the night were 2,913 by March Mill Work of Norristown, Pa.; 2,875 by Tritzel Oretzels of Hatfield, Pa.; 2,862 by Gateway Recreation Alleys of Beloit, Wis.; 2,832 by Philco Parts Production of Philadelphia; 2,825 by Ivin's Crackers of Philadelphia, and 2,825 by George Washington Hotel of this city. Joe Falcaro, the big shot of the latter outfit, did not show a 200 game, his series being 539.

In the matinee events a 1,288 by Jim Aliborn and John Smith of Erie, Pa., placed fourth.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Well here we are back . . . did you miss the mud slinging or was it a well deserved rest . . . who can tell and who cares.

Monday we decided to take a little trip and we ended up in Peoria, Ill. . . . that is about 536 miles from good old New Castle . . in fact . . . at eight-thirty Wednesday morning we were still in Peoria . . . had no idea of being home today but we are some what like the old horse when our head is pointed toward home we just have to make it or else.

A little incident happened yesterday that we thought might interest you . . . driving a car that drinks gas like ours you are bound to be stopping quite regular . . . we stopped and bought 15 gallons . . . we started out again and went about five blocks when the car went dead . . . upon examining the fool thing we found that water was in the place of gas . . . draining the gas tank we found 15 gallons of water . . . the last gas we bought was water . . . folks a car will not run on water much to our disappointment . . . that my friends is one of the pleasures of touring.

* * *

It seems that spring is in the air and romance it bitting every where . . . Johnrae Earl is falling, has fallen fell for Miss Mildred Carson in a big way . . . In fact it has been Mr and Mrs. since the 31st of March . . . it isn't fair to keep a marriage a secret.

* * *

We hear some of our golfer friends talking about getting out and hitting the old pill . . . just to limber up they say . . . we mean the ones that weren't fortunate enough to get down south . . . we have one woman that should be plenty smooth this summer . . . she spent all winter playing in open amature matches . . . we shall keep our eye on the little lady.

* * *

Pardon the talk about ourselves . . but until we can get collected and find some news of interest please forgive . . . thanks!

Market Trading Fairly Active

Market Goes About Recovering Some Of Losses Of Past Few Days

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, April 8.—The stock market today recovered part of the preceding session's heavy losses, which resulted from rumors, denied in official quarters, that the United States was planning a change in its gold buying policy.

Trading was at a fairly active pace, with the ticker falling behind momentarily at the start, but initial gains running in some cases to more than three points were cut down by a mild influx of selling later in the forenoon.

Coppers, steels, motors, rubbers and rails, yesterday's bear targets, were in the van of the first half-hour upswing. Blocks of stock running to 8,000 shares in New York Central, which showed an overnight gain of a point, changed hands at the start.

Movements in steels and motors were typical of the general market. U. S. Steel, after running up close to two points, lost more than half of its gain to 112, while Chrysler converted a gain of 1½ into an equal loss late in the first hour. Others in these two groups also had advances running to more than two points in Bethlehem sharply reduced.

Southern Pacific was a star performer in the rails, while U. S. Rubber stood out in the rubbers. The former was up 3⅝ points at one time, but settled back two points from its top. U. S. Rubber held on to a point of a more than a three-point spurt.

Farm implement shares displayed a firm resistance to liquidation, Deere and Oliver Farm ruling better than two points above previous closings and International Harvester doing nearly as well.

Most other groups were steady to moderately higher, including mail orders, utilities, aviations and amusements.

Bonds were somewhat irregular, with U. S. governments resuming their down trend. Commodities recovered with stocks, cotton rising $1 a bale and grains more than a cent a bushel.

Finishing Again League Champs

Give Mechanicals 48-29 Drubbing In Playoff Game At Shelby Wednesday

WIN TITLE THIRD CONSECUTIVE TIME

ELLWOOD CITY, April 8.—Basketball made its final fadeout in Ellwood City Wednesday night at the Shelby auditorium before an overflow crowd when the crack Finishing cagers won the Industrial league title for the third consecutive time by soundly trimming the Mechanicals 48-29 in a play-off game.

A bad second half proved disastrous for the fine Mechanical team. They won the first round without a defeat and Finishing won the second and third. Therefore the one game play-off was arranged for the championship of the league. The two teams began to play their usual nip and tuck game when the score was deadlocked at 5 all in the first quarter. Finishing then put on a spurt that gave them 14 points to the opponent's 8, making the score at half time 19-13 for the Finishing. They were never headed after this.

In the ensuing period Finishing counted up 10 points to the Mechanicals 6, making the score 29-19. The final quarter was a rout as the Finishing sharpshooters started sinking baskets from all angles of the floor. It was the work of Capt. Tommy Barnes and Dicky Freidhoff that spelled doom for the Mechanicals. Johnson and Gottuso were best for the losers.

In the preliminary game the Conns of New Castle trimmed an all-star team here 52-27. Dutkin, Carik and Wanio were the big guns in the attack for the victors. Ferucci and Hauserman were best for the losers.

Boyle Points To Traffic Hazard

Tells City Council Signal Light Needed At Mercer And Falls Streets

Thomas Boyle, manager of The Castleton appeared before council at their meeting in the city building today and pointed out traffic hazards at the corner of East Falls and North Mercer street and requested that the council place a "Go and Stop" traffic light at the intersection. Council promised to consider the request.

Boyle said there was an accident at the intersection Tuesday night. He also declared that autoists in Mercer street "make a run for the hill" and sound their horns, thus inviting an accident and also annoying hotel guests. Boyle also added that he had in 1935 imparted information of a similar nature to council.

Mayor Charles E. McGrath said "we sympathize with the problem but there are about eight other corners here which need a light." He added each light costs about $300.00.

Boyle declared that expenditure for lights would be money well spent.

Councilman Butler agreed it was a dangerous point.

Councilman Alexander said the recommendation would be considered but no answer could be immediately given Mr. Boyle.

Councilman Rice suggested the situation be referred to Traffic Commissioner John F. Haven.

Mr. Boyle said Mr. Haven has a thorough understanding of the situation and has done all possible to alleviate the condition.

Council did not receive any official information during their meeting today in regard to the problem.
